

Charge Made Americans Kidnaped Pole in Flight

Protest Asks Return of Interpreter From Tokyo or Okinawa

Pannunjom, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Polish member of a four-nation commission policing the Korean truce charged today that a Polish interpreter who fled to freedom was kidnaped by American army officers and demanded his immediate return.

Jan Hajdukiewicz, a 28-year-old civilian interpreter, broke from a truce inspection team at a South Korean Air Base Wednesday and was given political asylum by U. S. officers.

The army won't say where Hajdukiewicz is now. There has been speculation that he was flown either to Tokyo or Okinawa. Maj. Gen. M. Wagrowski, senior Polish officer in Korea, read a letter of protest at a meeting of the Armistice Supervisory Commission.

The letter charged that Hajdukiewicz was kidnaped by American officers and demanded his immediate return.

The letter was addressed to Gen. Mark W. Clark, UN commander, and was not submitted to the commission.

Won't Intervene
The commission took no action on the letter, said Maj. Gen. Seven Grafstrom, Swedish delegate and commission chairman. Grafstrom said the commission would not intervene. He said the incident was a matter between the Polish delegation and the UN command.

The Red Peiping radio said a written copy of the letter was given to an allied liaison officer at Pannunjom Friday for delivery to Clark. The UN command confirmed a letter had been received, but would not immediately divulge its contents.

Peiping said Wagrowski "protested against this violation of the rights guaranteed to the neutral nations inspection teams by the armistice agreement and demanded that Jan Hajdukiewicz be returned to the inspection team."

The commission met for 2 hours and 35 minutes, took up only routine matters after the protest, then scheduled another session for Monday.

Stress 944 Missing
In Washington, the Pentagon released more names of 944 American military personnel believed to have been captured in Korea but still unaccounted for.

Among the missing prisoners identified by the Pentagon today was Capt. Harold Fischer of Swea City, Iowa, a double jet ace whom the Reds identified as a prisoner and then did not repatriate.

Red news correspondent Wilfred Burchett told newsmen Friday Fischer and other airmen the Communists claim were shot down over Chinese Manchuria were not classed as prisoners of war and their release would have to be negotiated through diplomatic channels. Burchett did not say how many prisoners the Reds held back.

Allied pilots were forbidden to cross the Manchurian border from North Korea but the air force has acknowledged that some may have crashed or parachuted into Chinese territory after being shot up in air battles with MIG jets just south of the Yalu river boundary.

Meanwhile, the UN command continued moving prisoners who refused to return home to the demilitarized zone five miles northwest of Pannunjom.

Dutchess Grand Jury Goes on Record to Prevent Matteawan Escapes

Poughkeepsie, Sept. 11 (AP)—A Dutchess County Grand Jury Friday called for modernized security measures at the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Beacon.

There have been numerous escapes from the hospital in recent years, including that of three inmates, described as dangerous on June 7. The three were gone five days. A number of hacksaw blades were found on the grounds last Aug. 22.

The jurors handed a presentment to Supreme Court Justice James Bailey urging:

1. Construction of a new security building.

2. Installation of electric eye equipment to prevent tools being smuggled in.

3. Assignment of more attendants, especially at night.

4. Installation of two-way radio for immediate contact with state police.

5. More adequate telephone communication between buildings of the old institution.

Mystery Plane Flies Over City Last Night

A mystery plane flying over Kingston last evening set in motion the Ground Observer Corps, sheriff's deputies and state police but today the identity of the light plane remained a mystery. It was last seen flying south after circling the city several times.

The plane was first reported by James Gilbert of 71 Liberty street and Robert Pratt of Liberty street, who were on duty at the observation tower on the Governor Clinton Hotel. This was at 9:04. The landing lights were flashed on and off and the plane circled the Kingston-Ulster Airport area and then flew west. Later it appeared again over the city and appeared to be seeking to land. It was last seen headed south.

Full Jury Picked For Murder Trial

Testimony in McManus First Degree Case to Start Monday

Canandaigua, Sept. 12 (AP)—A full jury has been selected to hear testimony when the state is scheduled to open its case in the first degree murder trial of Fred Eugene McManus, confessed slayer of five persons.

The trial was adjourned on the fourth day yesterday after a twelfth juror and two alternates had been selected.

Ten men and two women compose the regular jury and two men were selected as alternates.

John H. Benham, Sr., a farmer and supervisor in the town of Bristol, was the last regular juror to be seated. The two alternates are Andrew Hawthorne, poultry raiser and assessor for the town of Richmond, and Ernest C. Brown of Victor, a Rochester office worker.

State Supreme Court Justice H. Douglass Van Duser told the jurors they would not be locked up for the present, but it might become necessary later in the trial.

Sessions during the first four days of the trial were devoted chiefly to the selection of jurors, with 94 persons being examined by attorneys.

Specific Charge
McManus is specifically charged with the murder last March 27 of William Allen Braverman, a 19-year-old Hobart College freshman from Rochester, who gave McManus a lift while driving to a college dance.

Police say the 19-year-old former marine shot Braverman with a .45 caliber pistol, buried him in an abandoned gravel pit, and took the youth's new convertible for a murder-scarred trip through the mid-west with a teen-aged girl friend.

Admits Slaying Four
McManus has admitted killing four other persons in holdups that netted him less than $60. He said he wanted money to marry his sweetheart, Diane Marie Weggele of Rochester, who has since been committed to a women's institution as a wayward minor. They were still unmarried when picked up in Dubuque, Iowa.

The Valley Stream youth has pleaded innocent to the murder charge by reason of insanity. M. Maurice Chachia, court-assigned defense attorney, has told newsmen he would seek to have McManus committed to a mental institution as "insane and dangerous."

Freeman to Start Oatis' Prison Story on Monday

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—William N. Oatis, the AP correspondent who spent two years in a Czech prison, has written his own story.

The byline "by William N. Oatis" will appear in The Freeman Monday, Sept. 14 over the first of a series of articles Oatis has written, giving a vivid description of his ordeal.

Oatis, a native of Indiana, went to Prague in June, 1950, to become chief of the Associated Press bureau reporting the news of Czechoslovakia. His efforts to get the news would be considered normal in any country with a free press, but they were not to the liking of Communist officials in Prague. The secret police arrested Oatis in April, 1951, and built up a charge of espionage against him. The U. S. State Department denounced the charges and his trial as a travesty of justice. Oatis spent more than two years in prison cells near Prague before he was released last May.

On his return to the United States he had to undergo extensive medical treatment. He was eager to write his own story in his own words, but doctors for a time permitted him to work only an hour a day.

The AP said today that Oatis will relate in the articles the methods the secret police used in obtaining his "confession" to charges of spying, and disclose various aspects of his imprisonment.

Lucille Ball Absolved Of Communist Charges

TV Star Denies Party Membership Although She Registered in '36 'to Please Grandpa'

Hollywood, Sept. 12 (AP)—Lucille Ball, television's top comedienne, never was a Communist, says the House Un-American Activities Committee, even though she registered as one 17 years ago.

The wide-eyed star of the popular "I Love Lucy" show freely admitted to committee investigator William Wheeler that she registered March 19, 1936, to vote for the Communist ticket "because grandpa wanted all of us to."

But she emphatically denied ever being a party member or voting for party candidates.

"There is no evidence that Miss Ball is or ever was a party member," Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.), committee member, told a news conference last night.

Ball explained he called the conference at the behest of a majority of committee members so said. He said they testified they never saw her at a party meeting of any sort.

Informal of Jackson's statements, Miss Ball, filming one of her shows for later release, said last night, "oh my, I'm so happy. I found out today who all my friends are."

Television officials said she had received hundreds of telegrams from well wishers.

Her husband and co-star, Desi Arnaz, signed an eight-million dollar contract this year to produce the program 2½ more years. Arnaz said, "Lucy has always had a clear conscience about this. She has never been a Communist and what's more she hates every Communist in Hollywood."

"Her grandfather was a character out of 'You Can't Take It With You,'" said Arnaz.

Reports Articles Stolen
Robert Kelder of 48 Third avenue reported to city police and the sheriff's office today that articles valued at $200 had been taken from his unlocked car and that of his father some time last night. During the night they had stopped at two taverns but the articles were not missed until this morning. City police and County Investigator Arthur Brown are making an investigation. Among the articles missed are blankets, sun glasses, flashlight and a pair of binoculars valued at $100.

Hull Named To Replace Gen. Clark

Desk Officer Succeeds Present UN Leader Who Retires From Service Oct. 30

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Gen. John E. Hull, a desk officer for much of his 36-year military career, leaves the Pentagon soon to command troops along the uneasy truce line in Korea.

The tall, strapping Ohioan was named by President Eisenhower yesterday to succeed Gen. Mark Clark as supreme United Nations commander in the Far East. Clark retires Oct. 30.

Hull, now 58, has not seen combat since World War 1 when, as a junior infantry officer, he won the Silver Star for gallantry during the Aisne, Marne, offensive.

His World War 2 years were spent in the less dramatic but vital jobs of handling operations for all the far flung overseas theatres. He worked closely in this work with Gen. George C. Marshall, then army chief of staff.

Atomic Weapons Expert
Hull became something of an expert on atomic weapons five years ago when he had charge of atom bomb tests conducted at the Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific.

He also is given credit for playing an important role in the development of the army's giant atomic cannon, one of the world's newest and most potent weapons.

For the past two years, Hull has been vice chief of staff of the army.

Not West Pointer
Unlike many of his fellow general officers, Hull is not a West Pointer. He entered the army through the reserve in 1917 shortly after graduating from Miami University at Oxford, Ohio.

A native of Greenfield, O., he played football in college and later for the army. He still looks the athlete, weighing 195 and standing just under six feet. He plays golf in the 80s and is an avid fisherman.

He and his wife have been living at Fort Myer, across the Potomac from Washington. They have no children.

Domek Death Is Called Accidental

Joseph Domek, 37, of 35-07 147th street, Flushing, L. I., who was instantly killed at 6:03 a. m. yesterday in a collision between a sedan and a trailer truck at Beatty's turn, Hurley avenue died accidentally as the result of a "crushed skull" and other injuries, according to the verdict of Coroner Francis J. McCordle.

McCordle said, following an autopsy performed by Dr. Herman Derman of the City Laboratory, it was determined Domek died "of a crushed skull, the cause of immediate death, multiple rib fractures, lacerations of the left lung and fractures of cervical and thorax vertebrae."

The body was removed to Harrett and Harrett Funeral Home, Flushing, for funeral arrangements.

Witness at Probe Says 600 Clergymen Are Red

Un-American Activities Committee Makes Public Testimony on Success With 'Dupes and Pawns'

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Once-secret charges that Communists successfully infiltrated American churches today were spread in open files of a congressional investigation.

One witness said 600 U. S. clergymen are "secret" members of the Communist Party and three to four thousand others are in "the fellow-traveling category."

The House Un-American Activities Committee, which resumes its sessions late this year or early in 1954, made public the detailed testimony yesterday.

It came from former active Communist leaders and told of how the Reds, unable to destroy religion of frontal assaults, bored from within to seek their goal with the aid of unwitting dupes and pawns.

Pass Expectations
One witness, Manning Johnson of New York, said not even the Reds themselves expected to achieve the success he said they realized.

Another, Benjamin Gitlow of New York, testified: "In the infiltration of the Methodist Church, the Communists were highly successful."

A third, Joseph Zack Kornfeder of New York, called the Fifth Column plan "rather effective." Johnson was described as a

Communist from 1930 to 1940, a member of the National Negro Commission, of the Communist Party National Committee from 1934 or 1935 to 1940, and a member of the party's national committee from 1936 to 1938; Gitlow as a top U. S. Communist leader from 1919 to 1929, and Kornfeder as a Communist from 1919 to 1934.

They testified last July at committee meetings in New York. The meetings, not open to the public, were called ostensibly to investigate communism in the New York area. However, the hearing transcript disclosed the subject of communism in religion was considered exclusively.

Gives Figures
Kornfeder estimated there are 600 clergymen in the United States who are "secret" members of the Communist party. He said between three and four thousand others are "among the fellow-traveling category." Many more, he said, were duped into aiding Communist fronts, but "the temporary sympathizers will fade out."

The boring from within was not aimed at any particular church group, the witnesses said, and was spearheaded by unofficial movements which sought to identify themselves with churches.

In the Catholic church, Kornfeder said, the infiltration "is mainly among laymen." He commented that Communists "had some experience trying to line up the Catholic priests and, well, something usually happened pretty quickly."

Durkin Case Starts Move In Capital

N. J. Republican Regrets Halt of Conferences on Solution of Plan to Please Labor

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. Murray (D-Mont.) said today a new drive for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act may be the Democrats' answer to Eisenhower administration discord over labor policies.

Murray, top Democrat on the Senate Labor Committee, said in an interview he intends to sponsor a repealer in the next session of Congress and to make the matter an issue in next year's congressional campaign.

Secretary of Labor Durkin's resignation indicates very clearly that any Taft-Hartley amendments the Republicans offer are not going to be the kind promised by President Eisenhower's last year's campaign which would be sympathetic with the workers' program," Murray said.

"The entire act ought to be repealed and I intend to move in that direction."

Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) of the Senate Labor Committee expressed regret and surprise over Durkin's resignation Thursday. Smith said in a telephone statement he had "understood that conversations would continue to the end that a labor program might be developed and legislation prepared for introduction in Congress early in January."

Says Agreement Broken
Durkin, a Democrat, quit the cabinet to return to his post as president of the AFL Plumbers and Steamfitters Union, saying White House aides had broken an agreement with him to put the administration's support behind 19 proposed Taft-Hartley law changes.

Durkin declined to detail the changes on which he said agreement had been reached. However, 19 points also were contained in a proposed message to Congress never actually sent to the lawmakers but leaked to newsmen during this year's session.

Among them were several embodying concessions demanded by labor, such as lifting the present ban on many secondary boycott practices, greater leeway for employers and unions in the construction field to establish pre-hiring labor contracts and union shop agreements.

Management Complaints
Management spokesmen complained the suggested changes unduly favored the unions. The White House said the document was a "preliminary draft" of matters still under consideration.

In Philadelphia yesterday chairman McConnell (R-Pa.) of the House Labor Committee said he knew of no basis for Durkin's assertion that the White House had (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Civil Defense directors at the request of the state director will invite CD chairmen of societies, clubs and other organizations to attend the institutes, as they can be of assistance in recruiting and training medical aides.

"There is no evidence that Miss Ball is or ever was a party member," Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.), committee member, told a news conference last night.

Jackson explained he called the conference at the behest of a majority of committee members so that rumors implicating Miss Ball, 42, with communism could be scotched.

Rumors Did It
If the rumors hadn't become widespread, he added, it is unlikely the committee would have made the disclosures, since it had known for several years of Miss Ball's registration.

Jackson said there is some question as to whether Miss Ball ever voted the Communist ticket, but added that this point will be cleared up today with the release of the transcript of her testimony before Wheeler.

The same time she registered, Jackson said, she signed a nominating petition for Emil Freed, Communist Party candidate for the 57th California Assembly District. He said this also was at the request of her grandfather, Fred C. Hunt, now deceased, and who, the actress said, made the political decisions in the family.

Family Registered
The actress was quoted by Jackson as saying that in addition to herself, her mother, Mrs. Desirée Ball, and brother, Fred

Driver More Worried About Cops in Chase
New York, Sept. 12 (P)—Truck driver James Brooks says he did nothing more than any other citizen would have done in helping capture two alleged holdup men Tuesday during a 60-mile-an-hour running gun battle in the Lincoln Tunnel.

Brooks, 53-year-old Negro, was officially honored yesterday by the Port of New York Authority for showing courage in carrying two officers on the running boards of his truck to chase the holdup men.

Brooks—who drove off to work after the arrest and whose identity wasn't learned until the following day—said that he was more worried about the officers hanging onto his truck than himself.

Quake on Coast
Bakersfield, Calif., Sept. 12 (P)—A sharp earthquake jolted this area last night, but the sheriff's office said it had no reports of damage.

Newburgh Man on List
Captain Fred B. Rountree, husband of Mrs. Dorothy A. Rountree, 66 Campbell street, Newburgh, was listed by the Pentagon in Washington today as one of 307 American air force personnel still unaccounted for after being reportedly captured by the Communists in Korea. The Defense Department has said there are 944 such missing men in all, the Associated Press reported this morning.

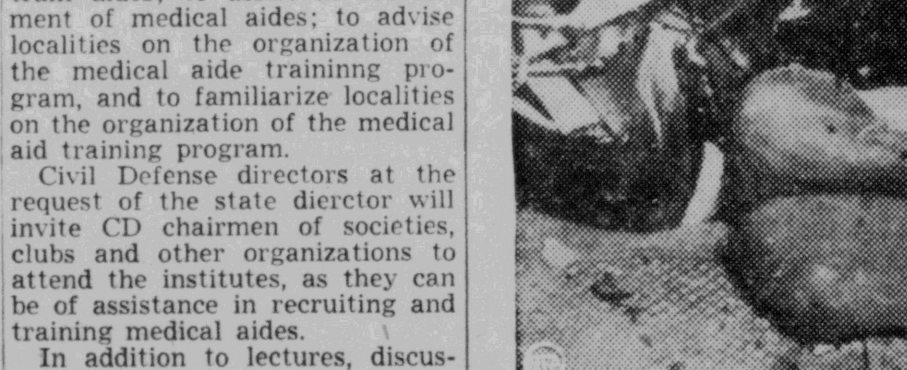

Thrown Under Wheel
Domek was thrown under the right rear wheel of the truck which was headed west on Route 209, authorities reported. The sedan, which Domek was driving, apparently skidded around the turn, its rear end striking the trailer truck, owned by Rolfe Reed of Monticello, according to police.

Sylvia Kumble, 44, of White-stone, L. I., who was riding with Domek, was pulled from beneath the sedan apparently uninjured, it was reported by city police.

Edward Lohmeyer, 35, of Montauk Valley, Sullivan county, driver of the trailer truck, was arrested on a charge of operating (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Hull Named To Replace Gen. Clark

Desk Officer Succeeds Present UN Leader Who Retires From Service Oct. 30

Washington, Sept. 12 (P)—Gen. John E. Hull, a desk officer for much of his 36-year military career, leaves the Pentagon soon to command troops along the uneasy truce line in Korea.

The tall, strapping Ohioan was named by President Eisenhower yesterday to succeed Gen. Mark Clark as supreme United Nations commander in the Far East. Clark retires Oct. 30.

Hull, now 58, has not seen combat since World War 1 when, as a junior infantry officer, he won the Silver Star for gallantry during the Aisne-Marne offensive.

His World War 2 years were spent in the less dramatic but vital jobs of handling operations for all the far flung overseas theatres. He worked closely in this work with Gen. George C. Marshall, then army chief of staff.

Atomic Weapons Expert
Hull became something of an expert on atomic weapons five years ago when he had charge of atom bomb tests conducted at the Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific.

He also is given credit for playing an important role in the development of the army's giant atomic cannon, one of the world's newest and most potent weapons.

For the past two years, Hull has been vice chief of staff of the army.

Not West Pointer
Unlike many of his fellow general officers, Hull is not a West Pointer. He entered the army through the reserve in 1917 shortly after graduating from Miami University at Oxford, Ohio.

A native of Greenfield, O., he played football in college and later in the army. He still looks the athlete, weighing 195 and standing just under six feet. He plays golf in the 80s and is an avid fisherman.

He and his wife have been living at Fort Myer, across the Potomac from Washington. They have no children.

Domek Death Is Called Accidental

Joseph Domek, 37, of 35-07 147th street, Flushing, L. I., who was instantly killed at 6:03 a. m. yesterday in a collision between a sedan and a trailer truck at Beatty's turn, Hurley avenue died accidentally as the result of a "crushed skull" and other injuries, according to the verdict of Coroner Francis J. McCord.

McCord said, following an autopsy performed by Dr. Herman Derman of the City Laboratory, it was determined Domek died of a crushed skull, multiple rib fractures, lacerations of the left lung and fractures of cervical and thorax vertebrae.

The body was removed to Harrett and Harrett Funeral Home, Flushing, for funeral arrangements.

Red Propaganda Still Pours in, Say Officials
New York, Sept. 12 (P)—Customs officials say Communist propaganda from abroad keeps pouring in, even though most of it ends up in the discard.

The Red literature often arrives in the form of packages registered by mail or bulk parcels, authorities said yesterday.

In addition to individuals and Communist groups, the matter also has been directed to private, non-Communist organizations and even to governmental agencies. A careful record of all addresses is maintained.

Material deemed inflammatory, false or fraudulent goes into the discard.

GM Unit Gets Army's 200 Million Dollar Tank Job

Washington, Sept. 12 (P)—The army has declared the Fisher Body Division of General Motors Corp. successful bidder on a 200-million-dollar contract for "Patton" medium tanks.

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens said yesterday the General Motors bid was about 12 per cent lower than one by the Chrysler Corp. Both motor companies have been producing the tanks, officially designated M48.

The army said Chrysler would continue building M48s at Newark, Del., until April 1954 and afterwards would keep its tools in "package storage" so as to resume production "quickly if necessary."

Stevens said Chrysler would continue under a separate contract to design the M48.

The secretary also said contracts amounting to 85 million dollars for 2½ ton trucks had been awarded to General Motors. He said contracts totaling 61 million dollars for similar vehicles went to Reo Motors Corp.

The Reo bid was slightly higher, he said, but it was decided to keep both plants in production "to maintain a broader production base and reduce delivery rates."

In Detroit Chrysler President L. L. Colbert said the secretary's statement "seems to speak for itself."

"All I can say at the moment is that we worked very hard to get this business," he said.

General Motors said the work would be done at the Fisher plant at Grand Blanc, Mich.

Three other plants now manufacturing other models of tanks are not affected.

Aside from the 2½ ton trucks, Stevens said, other army vehicles will continue to be produced by these manufacturers:

Willys for the ¼-ton truck or jeep; Dodge for the ¾-ton; International Harvester for the 5-ton; Mack for the 10-ton.

Witness at Probe Says 600 Clergymen Are Red

Un-American Activities Committee Makes Public Testimony on Success With 'Dupes and Pawns'

Washington, Sept. 12 (P)—Once-secret charges that Communists successfully infiltrated American churches today were spread in open files of a congressional investigation.

One witness said 600 U. S. clergymen are "secret" members of the Communist Party and three to four thousand others are in "the fellow-traveling category."

The House Un-American Activities Committee, which resumes its sessions late this year or early in 1954, made public the detailed testimony yesterday.

It came from former active Communist leaders and told of how the Reds, unable to destroy religion of frontal assaults, bored from within to seek their goal with the aid of unwitting dupes and pawns.

Pass Expectations
One witness, Manning Johnson of New York, said not even the Reds themselves expected to achieve the success he said they realized.

Another, Benjamin Gitlow of New York, testified: "In the infiltration of the Methodist Church, the Communists were highly successful."

A third, Joseph Zack Kornfeder of New York, called the Fifth Column plan "rather effective." Johnson was described as a

Communist from 1930 to 1940, a member of the National Negro Commission of the Communist Party National Committee from 1934 or 1935 to 1940, and a member of the party's national committee from 1936 to 1938; Gitlow as a top U. S. Communist leader from 1919 to 1929, and Kornfeder as a Communist from 1919 to 1934.

They testified last July at committee meetings in New York. The meetings, not open to the public, were called ostensibly to investigate communism in the New York area. However, the hearing transcript disclosed the subject of communism in religion was considered exclusively.

Gives Figures
Kornfeder estimated there are 600 clergymen in the United States who are "secret" members of the Communist party. He said between three and four thousand others are "among the fellow-traveling category." Many more, he said, were duped into aiding Communist fronts, but "the temporary sympathizers will fade out."

The boring from within was not aimed at any particular church group, the witnesses said, and was spearheaded by unofficial movements which sought to identify themselves with churches.

In the Catholic church, Kornfeder said, the infiltration "is mainly among laymen." He commented that Communists "had some experience trying to line up the Catholic priests and, well, something usually happened pretty quickly."

Newport, R. I., Sept. 12 (P)—The U. S. Senate lost one of its most eligible bachelors today when Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and dazzling Jacqueline Lee Bouvier were wed at old St. Mary's Church.

Durkin Case Starts Move In Capital

N. J. Republican Regrets Halt of Conferences on Solution of Plan to Please Labor

Washington, Sept. 12 (P)—Sen. Murray (D-Mont.) said today a new drive for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act may be the Democrats' answer to Eisenhower administration discord over labor policies.

Murray, top Democrat on the Senate Labor Committee, said in an interview he intends to sponsor a repealer in the next session of Congress and to make the matter an issue in next year's congressional campaign.

Secretary of Labor Durkin's resignation indicates very clearly that any Taft-Hartley amendments the Republicans offer are not going to be the kind promised by President Eisenhower in last year's campaign which would be sympathetic with the workers' program," Murray said.

"The entire act ought to be repealed and I intend to move in that direction."

Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) of the Senate Labor Committee expressed regret and surprise over Durkin's resignation Thursday. Smith said in a telephone statement he had "understood that conversations would continue to the end that a labor program might be developed and legislation prepared for introduction in Congress early in January."

Says Agreement Broken
Durkin, a Democrat, quit the cabinet to return to his post as president of the AFL Plumbers and Steamfitters Union, saying White House aides had broken an agreement with him to put the administration's support behind 19 proposed Taft-Hartley law changes.

Durkin declined to detail the changes on which he said agreement had been reached. However, 19 points also were contained in a proposed message to Congress never actually sent to the lawmakers but leaked to newsmen during the year's session.

Among them were several embodying concessions demanded by labor, such as lifting the present ban on many secondary boycott practices, greater leeway for employers and unions in the construction field to establish pre-hiring labor contracts and union shop agreements.

Management Complains
Management spokesmen complained the suggested changes unduly favored the unions. The White House said the document was a "preliminary draft" of matters still under consideration.

In Philadelphia yesterday chairman McConnell (R-Pa.) of the House Labor Committee said he knew of no basis for Durkin's assertion that the White House had (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Thieves Get $10,000 In Motel Robbery

Media, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP)—Thieves stole the master key from the owner of the Concord Motel yesterday morning and then rifled nine cabins of some $10,000 in cash and jewelry while the occupants slept.

The motel is owned by Warren and Gertrude Temple and is located on U. S. Route 202 in Concord township, Delaware county, Pa., half a mile from the Delaware state line and just down the road from the new Brandywine raceway. The motel is frequently used by racers and horse owners, drivers and officials from the track.

Pennsylvania State Policemen Joseph L. Packer, Edward Konchar and Cpl. Rocko T. Urella, went over the 12 cabin development and said there were so many people on the scene they were unable to uncover a solid clue.

Among the victims was Ben Kaiden, 301 E. Wood road, Woodmere, Long Island, N. Y., and his wife, who lost $2,000 in cash. A ring and wrist watch valued at $1,000 lying on a dresser were not touched. Kaiden is associated with a New York theater ticket agency.

U. S. Still Trying to Get Ships, Cash From Russia

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—The U. S. government is trying again to get back from Russia ships and money borrowed when the two countries were allies against Germany.

A memorandum handed Ambassador George M. Zarubin yesterday renewed American demands for return of 670 ships, mostly small naval vessels. Undersecretary of State Walter B. Smith also reminded Zarubin that negotiations for settling the lend lease account have been dragging on more than six years.

The United States asks 800 million dollars in compensation for an estimated $2,600,000,000 in lend lease items. The Russians last year offered 300 million.

Showers, Cooler Are Promised in East

(By The Associated Press)

Showers and cooler air were in prospect for wide areas from the Rockies to the east coast today while mild weather continued in the mid western states.

Showers fell in Michigan and the northern Great Lakes region early today while thundershowers were reported in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

The Midwest cooled off. A new surge of chilly air from Canada pushed into northern Minnesota and central Wisconsin during the night, indicating a further drop in temperatures for north central regions over the weekend.

Hot weather continued over the western states with temperatures near 100 degrees in some areas yesterday. It was 98 in Pendleton, Ore., 96 in Boise, Ida., and 102 in Fresno, Calif.

Fair and mild weather was reported in most of the southeastern part of the country.

Judge Upholds Cotton States Ban On Negro Hurler

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 12 (AP)—A Federal District judge has ruled the Cotton States League didn't violate the civil rights of Negro pitcher Jim Tugerson by refusing to let him play in the loop.

Judge John Miller yesterday dismissed the right hander's demand for $50,000 in damages and said the rights Tugerson claims were violated "are not rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States."

Tugerson sued the Class C League, the seven clubs in Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi, league president Al Haraway and four officials of the three Mississippi clubs.

Sent by Hot Springs to a Class D club, Tugerson said in his suit he had been prevented from pursuing his occupation as a baseball player. He also charged that conspiracy of the seven clubs had prevented Hot Springs from fulfilling its contract with him.

The Negro pitcher, reported in Tarrytown, N. Y., could not be reached for comment.

Miller did not rule on the abrogated contract claim, pending a decision on whether he has jurisdiction. Minor league czar George Trautman twice upheld Hot Springs in its fight to play Tugerson, but the club optioned the Florence Villa, Fla., Negro to Knoxville in a "gentleman's agreement" with the rest of the circuit.

Figuring Best Way

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service hasn't abandoned its campaign to check up on taxpayers individually—it is only pausing to figure out the best way to proceed. Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews said yesterday this was the reason for orders to field offices not to start any new canvassing programs, such as the door-to-door checks undertaken in some parts of the country. Andrews said the campaign had been highly successful in bringing in revenue and that there had been few complaints.

Siren Falls Apart

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Motorcycle Patrolman David E. Graham went after a speeding autoist so hard today that his siren went to pieces. Slivers of the shattered metal alarm pierced the lower part of his leg, but he got his man. The mishap occurred on Franklin D. Roosevelt Drive. As Graham's speedometer registered 90 miles an hour, he sounded the siren to halt the racing car. The device flew to pieces but the motorist, Gabriel Baralt, stopped. Graham gave him a ticket, then went to Lenox Hill Hospital for treatment.

Detective Drops Dead

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Detective Charles A. Hopkins, 51, suffered a fatal heart attack yesterday at his desk in the Missing Persons Bureau. An emergency crew and ambulance attendants worked over the detective for some time, administering oxygen, before he was taken to Columbus Hospital where he was pronounced dead. Hopkins had just returned from a tour of the downtown area in the course of an investigation. He had been in ill health and returned to duty only two weeks ago, his colleagues said.

Insulation Keeps Bath Water Hot

Most everyone has a bathtub these days and most of these bathtubs can be filled once with hot water during the course of a day. Unfortunately there are far too many of these "one-hot-tub-a-day" systems. Now the trouble is not with the tub or even with the hot water heater and storage tank. These usually do their job pretty well. The big trouble is that after the water is hot, it goes around heating up the house and getting cooler by the second instead of saving its heat for that second hot tub of water.

The solution to this one is a little insulation. Modern gas and electric hot water heaters and tanks are usually factory insulated but the pipes that carry the hot water to the bathroom are not. Cover these lines with insulation and you'll notice a big difference. If you have an insulated hot water storage tank, insulate this by all means.

Insulation for tanks and pipes is sold at mail-order houses, hardware stores and plumbing supply houses. The insulation comes in small sections that can be easily installed by just about anyone. And it costs very little. Needless to say, the insulation will do more than just keep the water hot. It will cut down on your hot water heating fuel bills and also help keep your house that much cooler during the hot weather.

Stockbrokers have an in-elegant but very true maxim: Sometimes the bears win; sometimes the bulls win; but the hogs never win. The same thing is often true in bridge. If the opponents double you at a contract that you like, beware of a no-trump redouble. It may warn the opponents to find a contract that is more to their liking.

West thought he could make our hearts and wasn't afraid of a runout to four spades. He failed to take into consideration the possibility that South would blossom forth at the level of five in the previously unbid diamond suit.

It wasn't actually a very difficult decision for South to make. West could hardly redouble four hearts unless he was ready to do good business against four spades. Hence North could not have exceptionally great length in spades. The bidding made it clear that North was extremely short in hearts. Obviously North was bound to have fairly good support for diamonds.

As it happened, the support

Suit Set for 18th

Los Angeles, Sept. 12 (AP)—Nora Eddington's suit for divorce from Dick Haymes has been set for Sept. 18 in Superior Court here. The date was fixed yesterday after the court was advised that the crooner plans to obtain a Nevada divorce Sept. 21 and marry Rita Hayworth the same day. Mrs. Haymes filed her complaint last Aug. 22, charging cruelty. Previously she and Haymes had agreed upon a property settlement granting her $8,000 in cash and $100 weekly alimony. Nora, once the wife of Errol Flynn, married Haymes in 1949. Nevada divorces are final when the decree is granted. California divorces are final a year later. Mrs. Haymes insisted that her California hearing be held first, and Haymes agreed.

Offering a gracious combination for indoor and outdoor living, "The Los Animos" is designed primarily for those families who enjoy informal living and entertaining.

Spacious without giving the appearance of being large, this ranch house boasts an abundance of windows to bring as much as possible of the bright outdoors inside. Each of the three bedrooms has cross ventilation with the two front bedrooms containing three windows apiece.

Almost the entire area of the back walls in both the living and dining rooms is given over to the windows allowing for an unusual amount of sunlight and air in these rooms. The windows in the dining room look out on the back terrace where your ingenuity can be put to good use to make this outdoor living area just as attractive as you desire.

Located in the front of the house, the kitchen faces out on the area set aside for border plantings. Since the window in the breakfast nook also looks out on this little garden you'll want to make it especially delightful so that you'll have a pleasing view from the kitchen or breakfast nook.

The generous amount of closets throughout "The Animos" is a real boon to the housewife who likes to have a place to keep everything and likes to keep everything in its place. If you have but one car you can use the extra space in the two-car garage for storage.

Every home handyman will approve the installation of the tool bench and storage unit in the garage. And, the whole family will like the protected back entrance to the garage from the porch.

With overall dimensions of 68' x 27', "The Los Animos" would require at least a 90-foot lot. Cubage of the house is 26,600 feet; cubage of the garage is 7,700 feet. It would be best not to build a house of this type in a crowded area.

This house is selected as an illustration of a charming three-way combination of brick, stone and wood being used for the exterior finish. However, should you prefer shingles, brick or masonry you would find the results equally handsome though perhaps not as distinctive.

Since no laundry is included in the floor plan of "The Los

Keeping House In Good Repair Pays Dividends

A family's investment in the home should be protected by keeping the house in first-class condition at all times.

This means constant attention to small details so that even with age and use there will be little impairment in value. The house should continue indefinitely to be as sturdy and attractive as when new.

Repairs should be made as soon as defects are discovered, to prevent small jobs becoming costly big ones. A split clapboard will quickly rot and damage the interior by admitting moisture. A few broken or displaced shingles will soon result in serious damage that may cost hundreds of dollars to repair. There should be frequent inspections of the house inside and out.

One of the most economical factors in maintaining the value of a house is regular painting of both exterior and interior. Exterior paint should be renewed at least every four years. Not only does this add beauty to the house, but more important is the fact that top-quality paint, properly applied, protects the wood and metal surfaces from rot, rust and corrosion. It is these enemies of wood and metal that cause the real damage to any structure. Where paint is kept in good condition, repair bills are kept down.

An attractive home with modern color treatment is always worth more than a drab house, although the drab house may be equally as sound structurally.

Not Rust-Proof

Iron-wire window screening is no rust-proof even when galvanized, and should be protected with varnish or screen enamel.

Examine Inside And Out When Buying House

The old adage, "Never judge a book by its cover," is a good rule for the prospective buyer to follow when he is in the market for a new or old house.

It's obvious that house "coverings," walls and roof, that protect the home from rain and snow, sun and wind are basic to comfort. What may not be apparent is the degree of comfort and convenience the interior will provide for the occupants after they move in the house.

Here are some suggestions on what to look for when inspecting your future home.

FOUNDATION PARTS: Walls of solid concrete should be examined for cracks. Masonry walls should be examined for loose or missing mortar.

EXTERIOR WALLS: After examination of structure and basement equipment, exterior inspection should follow. Check masonry walls for cracks, broken bricks, especially over doors and windows. Examine wooden walls for decay and stucco walls for cracks, chipping or falling out of particles.

INTERIOR: Inspect all doors, windows, walls and flooring. If flooring and walls are worn in rooms where large quantities of water is used such as kitchens, baths, and laundries, replace with durable and waterproof material.

HEATING EQUIPMENT: There are many types of heating systems and details of inspection necessarily vary. Automatic controlled systems such as oil burners, gas-fired boilers, mechanical coal stokers and hot water heaters should be maintained in accordance with manufacturer's directions. Best time to inspect heating systems is spring or summer when unit is shut down.

ROOF: Leaks in roof cannot be checked from outside. If there is no ceiling in attic, holes can be detected from inside. Slate wood, or composition shingles are to be checked for broken, missing or loose pieces. Examine wood for decay.

OUTSIDE OF WINDOW: Check to see if weatherstripping is in good condition and turns rain water over window caps.

Wall Pockets Give More Storage Area

Almost any house can use a few more places to put things. Here's an idea for "put-away pockets" in your walls that will serve handily for storage of magazines, vases, cards, poker chips and other small items.

To make one of the pockets, cut the wallboard or plaster away between two studs in living room, bedroom or kitchen. Trim the back and the sides of the studs with 1/4" fir plywood. Place another strip of plywood at top and bottom of the hole.

This gives you a pocket in the wall about four inches deep, 12 to 16 inches wide, and as high as you want to make it. You can install 1/4" plywood doors or leave the area open.

Such a pocket in the wall is an excellent place to put a decorative vase or statue. For a magazine rack, bring the bottom edge of the backing piece forward and slant it back towards the top. With a shelf at the bottom, you can place magazines here on edge without having them fall forward.

Thieves Get $10,000 In Motel Robbery

Media, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP) — Thieves stole the master key from the owner of the Concord Motel yesterday morning and then rifled nine cabins of some $10,000 in cash and jewelry while the occupants slept.

The motel is owned by Warren and Gertrude Temple and is located on U. S. Route 202 in Concord township, Delaware county, Pa., half a mile from the Delaware state line and just down the road from the new Brandywine raceway. The motel is frequented by racegoers and horse owners, drivers and officials from the track.

Pennsylvania State Policemen Joseph L. Packer, Edward Konchar and Cpl. Rocky T. Urella, went over the 12 cabin development and said there were so many people on the scene they were unable to uncover a solid clue.

Among the victims was Ben Kaider, 301 E. Wood road, Woodmore, Long Island, N. Y., and his wife, who lost $2,000 in cash. A ring and wrist watch valued at $1,000 lying on a dresser were not touched. Kaider is associated with a New York theater ticket agency.

U. S. Still Trying to Get Ships, Cash From Russia

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP) — The U. S. government is trying again to get back from Russia ships and money borrowed when the two countries were allies against Germany.

A memorandum handed Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin yesterday renewed American demands for return of 670 ships, mostly small naval vessels. Undersecretary of State Walter B. Smith also reminded Zarubin that negotiations for settling the lend lease account have been dragging on more than six years.

The United States asks 800 million dollars in compensation for an estimated $2,630,000,000 in lend lease items. The Russians last year offered 300 million.

Showers, Cooler Air Promised in East

(By The Associated Press)

Showers and cooler air were in prospect for wide areas from the Rockies to the east coast today while mild weather continued in the far western states.

Showers fell in Michigan and the northern Great Lakes region early today while thundershowers were reported in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

The Midwest cooled off. A new surge of chilly air from Canada pushed into northern Minnesota and central Wisconsin during the night, indicating a further drop in temperatures for north central regions over the weekend.

Hot weather continued over the western states with temperatures near 100 degrees in some areas yesterday. It was 98 in Pendleton, Ore., 96 in Boise, Ida., and 102 in Fresno, Calif.

Fair and mild weather was reported in most of the southeastern part of the country.

Judge Upholds Cotton States Ban On Negro Hurler

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 12 (AP) — A Federal District judge has ruled the Cotton States League didn't violate the civil rights of Negro pitcher Jim Tugerson by refusing to let him play in the loop.

Judge John Miller yesterday dismissed the right hander's demand for $50,000 in damages and said the rights Tugerson claims were violated "are not rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States."

Tugerson sued the Class C League, the seven clubs in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi, league president Al Haraway and four officials of the three Mississippi clubs.

Sent by Hot Springs to a Class D club, Tugerson said in his suit he had been prevented from pursuing his occupation as a baseball player. He also charged that a conspiracy of the seven clubs had prevented Hot Springs from fulfilling its contract with him.

The Negro pitcher, reported in Tarriytown, N. Y., could not be reached for comment.

Miller did not rule on the abrogated contract claim, pending a decision on whether he has jurisdiction. Minor league czar George Trautman twice upheld Hot Springs in its fight to play Tugerson, but the club optioned the Florence Villa, Fla., Negro to Knoxville in a "gentleman's agreement" with the rest of the circuit.

Figuring Best Way

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service hasn't abandoned its campaign to check up on taxpayers individually—it is only pausing to figure out the best way to proceed. Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews said yesterday this was the reason for orders to field offices not to start any new canvassing programs, such as the door-to-door checks undertaken in some parts of the country. Andrews said the campaign had been highly successful in bringing in revenue and that there had been few complaints.

Siren Falls Apart

New York, Sept. 12 (AP) — Motorcycle Patrolman David E. Graham went after a speeding autoist so hard today that his siren went to pieces. Slivers of the shattered metal alarm pierced the lower part of his leg, but he got his man. The mishap occurred on Franklin D. Roosevelt Drive. As Graham's speedometer registered 90 miles an hour, he sounded the siren to halt the racing car. The device flew to pieces but the motorist, Gabriel Baralt, stopped. Graham gave him a ticket, then went to Lenox Hill Hospital for treatment.

Detective Drops Dead

New York, Sept. 12 (AP) — Detective Charles A. Hopkins, 51, suffered a fatal heart attack yesterday at his desk in the Missing Persons Bureau. An emergency crew and ambulance attendants worked over the detective for some time, administering oxygen, before he was taken to Columbus Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. Hopkins had just returned from a tour of the downtown area in the course of an investigation. He had been in ill health and returned to duty only two weeks ago, his colleagues said.

MINO HOLLOW BLASTS

Complaints of damage to homes in sections of this city as the result of blasting operations at the Mingo Hollow quarry of the Callanan Road Improvement Company at Connelly have been reported by home owners over a period of years and we believe that it is high time that these local taxpayers were given the protection that is usually accorded home ownership in communities.

At a hearing held here Wednesday, it was brought out by experts that scientific study and recording of instruments set up in various points in the city indicated that the blasts have not been of sufficient force to do any extensive damage to buildings in this area. But there has been destruction to homes as the result of the blasts, as brought out at the hearing by the home owners, the scientists to the contrary and notwithstanding. Cracked foundations and cellar floors and split walls are more impressive, at least to the home owner, than the recordings of a seismograph machine.

If the Callanan Company is to continue to guide its operations upon the findings of these scientists then it is only reasonable to expect that damage to homes in these sections will continue. In this event, the hearings and complaints will be of no avail and the home owners will have gotten nowhere.

It was announced at the hearing that a new technique in blasting has been tried in an effort to eliminate vibrations from the blasts. It is hoped that this new operation will bring relief.

JURISDICTION DISPUTE

One point of contention in the mutual security pact between Japan and the United States is article 17, which permits American service courts to have jurisdiction over all offenses committed in Japan by Americans, whether they are servicemen or civilians. There has been considerable debate as to whether a change in this policy is advisable. Article 17 was considered an important part of the agreement when it was signed in 1951. At that time Japan accepted it but today Japanese leaders urge the United States to relinquish that privilege and allow Americans to be tried in Japanese courts.

American opposition to the Japanese position is understandable. Imagine the reaction of an American congressman should one of his constituents be tried, convicted and sentenced to a long prison term in Japan for an offense which might have drawn a small fine or no penalty at all if it had been committed in America.

The condition as it exists is called "extra-territorialism" and was practiced at one time by European countries with interests in China. There are those who believe that this situation is unfair to the country which must cede some of its sovereignty to an outsider.

It should be remembered, however, that the presence of Americans in Japan is as of great benefit to the Japanese as it is to our own interests. Without our protection the Japanese might be vulnerable to attack at the whim of their Communist neighbors. It is not improper that the United States should expect some few concessions in exchange for its aid and protection.

Some people manage always to work at an even pace—they move slowly all the time.

Are you interested in gerontology? You are if you are over 65 or interested in the problems of life after that point. The experts who deal in matters affecting old age call their subject gerontology, and have been holding a convention in San Francisco.

A discovery which they reported is hardly news, that elderly persons in large numbers have been moving to Florida or California, chiefly on account of the climate. Louisiana, Texas, Washington and Oregon all have added many new inhabitants from those over 65 in other states. These, of course, are as with a mild winter climate.

Perhaps the increase in the number of older inhabitants may account for the no-

JOHN FOSTER DULLES

John Walters, in a dispatch from Washington to the London "Daily Mirror," writes a biographical and political sketch of the American Secretary of State that must give the large number of readers of that newspaper an altogether false picture of John Foster Dulles.

Each correspondent can only write what he sees, presuming that his object is to tell the truth. I have known John Foster Dulles for about 20 years and as I read the Walters article in the London "Daily Mirror," I could not help but wonder whether he was actually writing about the same man. For instance, after painting Dulles as an isolationist, with a quotation to prove it, Walters says:

"Nevertheless, after Pearl Harbor, Dulles was on the bandwagon cheering his nation to victory. Although a Republican, he had a big job at the San Francisco conference when the United Nations was established. And on and off he continued to serve the Democratic Administration."

This can only be attributed to ignorance of our two-party system and of Dulles's role in the State Department. Actually, he served as a Republican in a Democratic Administration. This is not unusual in American history, but in Dulles's case it was done with the consent of the Republican Party as part of a device called the Bipartisan Foreign Policy.

Perhaps I need to explain that I never believed in the Bipartisan Foreign Policy, but it was accepted by both political parties. Actually its authors were Senator Arthur Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles, with the approval of Senator Robert A. Taft. Its object was to present a united front on international relations no matter what the differences may have been on strictly domestic issues. The Bipartisan Foreign Policy did not altogether work because President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson kept too many matters secret which should have been submitted, under the arrangement, to both parties simultaneously.

It was as part of the Bipartisan Policy and with the consent of his party that John Foster Dulles was attached to the State Department. Actually, he became a bridge between the State Department and the Republican Party. In fact, I can state categorically that had Robert A. Taft been nominated and elected President, he would have appointed Dulles as his Secretary of State. Senator Taft told me that before the Chicago convention in connection with the planning of the foreign relations planks of the Republican Platform.

His appointment to his present post as Secretary of State by President Eisenhower was therefore anticipated. It was at the time assumed that Dulles was appointed because of his close relationship to Governor Thomas E. Dewey. Actually, the Taft element in the party also supported him. The alternatives were President Truman and John J. McCloy, both of whom Taft group could not accept for many political reasons.

Of Dulles, the correspondent of the London "Daily Mirror" says:

"For Mr. Dulles is a dangerous man. As he reaches and veers from side to side, frightened spectators all over the world fear that his ultimate destination is disaster."

"Dulles claims to be guiding us all to a peaceful world. At the same time he destroys the chances for such a world by spinning full conversations with Communist China and Russia. He threatens and waves a big stick. He annoys America's friends as well as his enemies. He annoys America's friends as well as his enemies."

"Who are America's friends whom John Foster Dulles annoys?" This London "Daily Mirror" respondent is not painting a true picture for his British readers. The most expressive criticism of Dulles is that he has not driven out enough of the pro-Russian and pro-British employees of the State Department, held over from the discredited Acheson regime. Most Americans desire a pro-American State Department and hope that they will get it in due course.

The United States is not Great Britain or a British dominion and our way is, for better or worse, not the British way after some 300 years of history between us. And conversely, it can be said that the British way of life is not ours. The differences are numerous and need to be understood and respected.

If the two nations are to maintain their relations without developing an irreparable enmity, it is essential that news reports from London and Washington be accurate and correct and not designed to support temporary policies which may change overnight, meanwhile stirring up unnecessary ill-will.

RAPID CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER

It is known that rheumatic fever is childhood's greatest enemy; it is also known that rheumatic fever is the commonest cause of heart disease in children; it is also known that one attack of rheumatic fever does not give immunity and the patient may have several attacks, each attack usually doing some damage to the heart.

Dr. J. B. Breese, University of Rochester (N. Y.) School of Medicine and Dentistry, reports a five-year study of various plans of treatment used to control the streptococcus organisms which cause rheumatic fever.

In this five-year period, 792 children between the ages of 2 months and 18 years with 1,204 proved streptococcal infections were observed by Dr. Breese and his associate Dr. F. A. Disney. The distribution of cases was equal between the two sexes but the "first" attacks showed a pronounced tendency to occur in children of ages 5, 6, and 7 years. Forty-eight per cent of the infections occurred in children of this age group (5, 6, and 7); 25 per cent occurred in children under 5, and 27 per cent in children over 7. Less than 2 per cent were observed in infants under 2 years of age. April and May were the months with highest number of attacks.

The treatment of these cases in homes of patients or in the physician's office consisted of the use of the sulfa drugs, use of aureomycin and penicillin. The symptoms were treated by acetyl salicylic acid (aspirin) or gargles.

The great majority of patients were treated with penicillin in various dose schedules, given by mouth or injections. Within 24 hours of treatment by aureomycin and penicillin, the temperature had subsided, the patient felt and acted better, and, in most cases, "wanted" to resume full activity. It is not surprising that these are called wonder drugs.

Because of the effectiveness of these drugs, Dr. Breese and Disney advise home care, if possible, as a single dose of 600,000 units of penicillin into the muscles will give effective blood levels for as long as two weeks. In some cases the penicillin is given by mouth.

"Penicillin is the drug of choice but must be used so that adequate blood levels are maintained for a week or longer (enough penicillin in the blood to control the infection). If so used in the majority of patients it will cure the disease, clear the throat of the streptococci (organisms) and prevent recurrence."

Penicillin is certainly a "miracle" drug. Edson's Washington News Notebook

The big race from here on for all congressional committees investigating communism will be to see who can first turn up evidence on the two so-far-undisclosed Russian spy rings supposed to be operating in the government.

All it will take to crack either of these cases is one good confession from a member of a court for either ring—somebody like Whittaker Chambers or Elizabeth Bentley.

The hunt for the two missing cells was highlighted by the new report of Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Internal Security. This report was prepared under the direction of Committee Counsel Robert Morris and his Director of Research Ben Mandel. The report quoted Elizabeth Bentley's original testimony to the committee on this subject in May, 1952.

"I know they haven't been exposed," said Miss Bentley. "I was not told who they are, but since they were not exposed, obviously they are still operating."

Morris—"You knew of two individual rings working under you?"

Miss Bentley—"Two individual rings plus a collection of individuals I dealt with individually."

Morris—"One was the (Nathan) Silvermaster ring?"

Miss Bentley—"That is correct. Morris—"And the other?"

Miss Bentley—"We called it the (Victor) Perlo group."

Morris—"There was still a third group that you knew of that existed at that time?"

Miss Bentley—"There was a third group that I knew of because of Mr. Hiss, and there was another group that was mentioned to me by my Soviet contact without identifying it further."

Morris—"That is still a fourth group?"

Miss Bentley—"Yes."

Morris—"And you know, as a member of fact, that neither one of these two groups have been exposed as of this date?"

Miss Bentley—"As far as I know, they haven't been exposed."

Reports Coming

Former Ambassador Lewis D. Douglas' report to President Eisenhower, recommending the lowering of American tariff barriers to foreign commerce, is the fourth such report made in the last five years.

But there are two more reports still to come because all such reports to Democratic administrations were thrown out or disregarded and fresh Republican reports are necessary.

The two to come are from Clarence Randall's Commission on Economic Policy and an 83-member Citizens Committee appointed by Senator Homer E. Capehart of Indiana. The last two reports might differ widely.

Foreign-Born Economists

Foreign-born and foreign-educated economists always rated high in Washington during the Democratic days, and President Eisenhower has continued this practice by naming two naturalized Americans to his Council of Economic Advisers.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, the chairman, was born in Stanislaus, Austria. He came here as a boy and was graduated from Columbia University. Later he became a member of the faculty at Columbia, and like met him there.

Dr. Neil H. Jacoby, second man named to the Council, was Canadian-born and educated and became an American citizen in 1937. He has served as professor of finance at University of Chicago and dean of the School of Business Administration at University of California in Los Angeles.

Radford's Problem

Admiral Arthur Radford, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, called his first press conference by inviting Pentagon reporters in for a coffee break.

The session was supposed to be off the record, but as the talk warmed up, Admiral Radford agreed to let the correspondents quote him on the Russian H-bomb and everything.

One of the new chairman's principal concerns right now is the low esteem in which the general public seems to hold the armed services.

Admiral Radford says confidence in military leaders is at the lowest point since the end of World War II. He wants to do something to correct it.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Herbert Brownell, the attorney general who was Dewey's campaign manager in 1948 and was taken into the cabinet as a member of Dewey's dominant wing of the Republican Party, is the one who has put the FBI on a spot in its touchy relations with local police departments and jeopardized its reputation with the public. The FBI has had the benefit of a fine campaign of public relations. Its little household scandals have been suppressed absolutely and the bureau has been glorified as no other American corps except the Marines ever was before.

John Edgar Hoover is sad about this problem. He wrote a long letter for publication, going as far as he could to emphasize the fact that it is butting into cheap little cases of disorderly conduct only by Brownell's explicit orders. In practically all these cases, the cops have already been vindicated by the local authorities, including county grand juries. But Brownell is making a bid for the votes of "groups" and "minorities" as he has proved by sending subordinates to "racial" conventions to promise "intensified efforts to safeguard civil rights."

In one New York case, two uniformed policemen were badgered and jeered by the FBI after they had shown great courage in arresting two men and a woman in a wild scene provoked by one of the men which might have blazed into a terrible race riot. The cops used just enough force to arrest the three, and one of the policemen was badly bitten on the hand by the woman and knocked down by her husband. All three were convicted in a local court, but the FBI nevertheless butted in under Brownell's orders because the prisoners happened to be Negroes.

Hoover has contrived to get two writers friendly to the bureau, as this one also is, to write special articles further pleading his case. He has emphasized his great problem in spying on Communists. This is the bureau's most important concern these days, although for years, under Roosevelt and Truman, its disreputable coveries were suppressed and the Department of Justice purposely ignored material which was obviously grand jury stuff. That is why Eleanor Roosevelt says "Leave it all to the FBI."

It should be said, moreover, to keep the story in balance, that the investigators of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, such men as Matthews, Belmont and Mandel, and the Lou Russell, the present chief of the investigating staff, gave the FBI much of its information. This is said not to belittle the FBI but simply to convey an understanding of the immunity of the protected government by Roosevelt and Felix Frankfurter, specifically, I refer to Alger Hiss as a traitor inducted into the government by Frankfurter. Felix may not have known that Hiss was a Communist agent of the Kremlin but the responsibility was his and he was no naive innocent regarding the world Communist system.

Hoover and other FBI men wince, understandably, at every suggestion that the FBI is over-stuffed if it has men to spare on such obviously insincere and cheaply political appeals to "racial" and "religious" hatred. The situation in Chicago is as bad as the New York outrages. If the Department of Justice were a private concern, it could be prosecuted for abuse of legal process. This policy flagrantly flouts legal ethics. Yet, if FBI men are being diverted from anti-Communist duty to persecute city policemen for twisting some fighting drunk's arm to subdue him, it surely follows that the agents assigned to this political duty are not giving any worthwhile service and should be laid off.

Not the my personal feelings matter, but the regretted necessity to expose this paltry use of an honorable corps for a low purpose. Brownell has assistant attorneys-general with no more useful duty to perform for their salaries and traveling expenses than to support his own brand of justice. This is nothing but an extension of Roosevelt's campaign to incite hatred of the larger public against "groups" and further needless jobs for the FBI.

Dewey, through Brownell, is stealing Herbert Lehman's stuff for use in Lehman's own bailiwick. For 15 years rotten unions all over the country have been imposing "their own brand of justice" but Brownell and Dewey want the very substantial union campaign money and that is the sole reason why the FBI is not assigned to union violations of civil rights. Not a single union ever has been prosecuted by the Department of Justice for any such crime even unto murder.

It is sometimes argued that city policemen are not intellectual and are abrupt in handling criminals or suspects who may be innocent. That is by no means conceded, but responsibility is still that of the states, which are the guardians of all the rights of their citizens. Their average performance is good with the flagrant exception of union atrocities against the people.

We know nothing about departmental trials of cops, but the FBI cops who are accused get loud publicity. And did the FBI use a little too much force in shooting down John Dillinger from ambush as he walked on a public street in a crowd leaving a movie? (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

RAPID CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER

It is known that rheumatic fever is childhood's greatest enemy; it is also known that rheumatic fever is the commonest cause of heart disease in children; it is also known that one attack of rheumatic fever does not give immunity and the patient may have several attacks, each attack usually doing some damage to the heart.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. B. B. Breese, University of Rochester (N. Y.), School of Medicine and Dentistry, reports a five-year study of various plans of treatment used to control the streptococcus organisms which cause rheumatic fever.

In this five-year period, 792 children between the ages of 2 months and 18 years with 1,204 proved streptococcal infections were observed by Dr. Breese and his associate Dr. F. A. Disney. The distribution of cases was equal between the two sexes but the "first" attacks showed a pronounced tendency to occur in children of ages 5, 6, and 7 years. Forty-eight per cent of the infections occurred in children of this age group (5, 6, and 7); 25 per cent occurred in children under 5, and 27 per cent in children over 7. Less than 2 per cent were observed in infants under 2 years of age. April and May were the months with highest number of attacks.

The treatment of these cases in homes of patients or in the physician's office consisted of the use of the sulfa drugs, use of aureomycin and penicillin. The symptoms were treated by acetyl salicylic acid (aspirin) or gargles.

The great majority of patients were treated with penicillin in various dose schedules, given by mouth or injections. Within 24 hours of treatment by aureomycin and penicillin, the temperature had subsided, the patient felt and acted better, and in most cases, "wanted" to resume full activity. It is not surprising that these are called wonder drugs.

Because of the effectiveness of these drugs, Drs. Breese and Disney advise home care, if possible, as a single dose of 600,000 units of penicillin into the muscles will give effective blood levels for as long as two weeks. In some cases the penicillin is given by mouth.

"Penicillin is the drug of choice but must be used so that adequate blood levels are maintained for a week or longer (enough penicillin in the blood to control the infection). If so used in the majority of patients it will cure the disease, clear the throat of the streptococci (organisms) and prevent recurrence."

Penicillin is certainly a "miracle" drug.

Smothered

Edson's Washington News Notebook

The big race from here on for all congressional committees investigating communism will be to see who can first turn up evidence on the two so far undisclosed Russian spy rings supposed to be operating in the government.

All it will take to crack either of these cases is one good confession from a member of a courier for either ring—somebody like Whittaker Chambers or Elizabeth Bentley.

The hunt for the two missing cells was highlighted by the new report of Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Internal Security. This report was prepared under the direction of Committee Counsel Robert Morris and his Director of Research Ben Mandel. The report quoted Elizabeth Bentley's original testimony to the committee on this subject in May, 1952.

"I know they haven't been exposed," said Miss Bentley. "I was not told who they are, but since they were not exposed, obviously they are still operating."

Morris—"You knew of two individual rings working under you?"

Miss Bentley—"Two individual rings plus a collection of individuals I dealt with individually."

Morris—"One was the (Nathan) Silvermaster ring?"

Miss Bentley—"That is correct."

Morris—"And the other?"

Miss Bentley—"We called it the (Victor) Perlo group."

Morris—"There was still a third group that you knew of that existed at that time?"

Miss Bentley—"There was a third group that I knew of because of Mr. Hiss, and there was another group that was mentioned without identifying it further."

Morris—"That is still a fourth group?"

Miss Bentley—"Yes."

Morris—"And you know, as a matter of fact, that neither one of these two groups . . . have been exposed as of this date?"

Miss Bentley—"As far as I know, they haven't been exposed."

Reports Coming

Former Ambassador Lewis D. Douglas' report to President Eisenhower, recommending the lowering of American tariff barriers to foreign commerce, is the fourth such report made in the last five years.

But there are two more reports still to come because all such reports to Democratic administrations were thrown out or disregarded and fresh Republican reports are necessary.

The two to come are from Clarence Randall's Commission on Economic Policy and an 83-member Citizens Committee appointed by Senator Homer E. Capehart of Indiana. The last two reports might differ widely.

Foreign-Born Economists

Foreign-born and foreign-educated economists always rated high in Washington during the Democratic days, and President Eisenhower has continued this practice by naming two naturalized Americans to his Council of Economic Advisers.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, the chairman, was born in Stanislaus, Austria. He came here as a boy and was graduated from Columbia University. Later he became a member of the faculty at Columbia, and Ike met him there.

Dr. Neil H. Jacoby, second man named to the Council, was Canadian-born and educated and became an American citizen in 1937. He has served as professor of finance at University of Chicago and dean of the School of Business Administration at University of California in Los Angeles.

Admiral Arthur Radford, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, called his first press conference by inviting Pentagon reporters in for a coffee break.

The session was supposed to be off the record, but as the talk warmed up, Admiral Radford agreed to let the correspondents

quote him on the Russian H-bomb and everything.

One of the new chairman's principal concerns right now is the low esteem in which the general public seems to hold the armed services.

Admiral Radford says confidence in military leaders is at the lowest point since the end of World War II. He wants to do something to correct it.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Herbert Brownell, the attorney general who was Dewey's campaign manager in 1948 and was taken into the cabinet as a member of Dewey's dominant wing of the Republican Party, is the one who has put the FBI on a spot in its touchy relations with local police departments and jeopardized its reputation with the public. The FBI has had the benefit of a fine campaign of public relations. Its little household scandals have been suppressed absolutely and the bureau has been glorified as no other American corps except the Marines ever was before.

John Edgar Hoover is sad about this problem. He wrote a long letter for publication, going as far as he could to emphasize the fact that it is butting into cheap little cases of disorderly conduct only by Brownell's explicit orders. In practically all these cases, the cops have already been vindicated by the local authorities, including county grand juries. But Brownell is making a bid for the votes of "groups" and "minorities" as he has proved by sending subpoenas to "racial" conventions to promise "intensified efforts to safeguard civil rights."

In one New York case, two uniformed policemen were badgered and jeopardized by the FBI after they had shown great courage in arresting two men and a woman in a wild scene provoked by one of the men which might have blazed into a terrible race riot. The cops used just enough force to arrest the three, and one of the policemen was badly bitten on the hand by the woman and knocked down by her husband. All three were convicted in a local court, but the FBI nevertheless butted in under Brownell's orders because the prisoners happened to be Negroes.

Hoover has contrived to get two writers friendly to the bureau, as this one also is, to write special articles further pleading his case. He has emphasized his great problem in spying on Communists. This is the bureau's most important concern these days, although for years, under Roosevelt and Truman, its discoveries were suppressed and the Department of Justice purposely ignored material which was obviously grand jury stuff. That is why Eleanor Roosevelt says "Leave it all to the FBI."

It should be said, moreover, to keep the story in balance, that the investigating staff of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, such men as Matthews, Stripling, Appel, Mandel and Lou Russell, the present chief of the investigating staff, gave the FBI much of its information. This is said not to belittle the FBI but simply to convey an understanding of the immunity of the protected traitors inducted into the government by Roosevelt and Felix Frankfurter. Specifically, I refer to Alger Hiss as a traitor inducted into the government by Frankfurter. Felix may not have known that Hiss was a Communist agent of the Kremlin but the responsibility was his and he was no naive innocent regarding the world Communist system.

Hoover and other FBI men winced, understandably, at every suggestion that the FBI is overstaffed if it has men to spare on such obviously insincere and cheaply political appeals to "racial" and "religious" hatred. The situation in Chicago is as bad as the New York outrages. If the Department of Justice were a private concern, it could be prosecuted for abuse of legal process. This policy flagrantly flouts legal ethics. Yet, if FBI men are being diverted from anti-Communist duty to persecute city policemen for twisting some fighting drunk's arm to subdue him, it surely follows that the agents assigned to this political duty are not giving any worthwhile service and should be laid off.

Not that my personal feelings matter, I have regretted the necessity to expose this paltry use of an honorable corps for a low purpose. Brownell has assistant attorneys-general with no more useful duty to perform for their salaries and traveling expenses than to spout inflammatory speeches threatening swift punishment to persons who "impose their own brand of justice." This is nothing but an extension of Roosevelt's campaign to incite hatred of the larger police forces against the larger police forces "groups" with resultant inevitable "incidents" and further needless jobs for the FBI.

Dewey, through Brownell, is stealing Herbert Lehman's stuff for use in Lehman's own bellwether. For 15 years rotten unions all over the country have been imposing "their own brand of justice." But Brownell and Dewey want the very substantial union campaign money and that is the sole reason why the FBI is not assigned to union violations of civil rights. Not a single union ever has been prosecuted by the Department of Justice for any such crime even unto murder.

It is sometimes argued that city policemen are not intellectual and are abrupt in handling criminals or suspects who may be innocent. That is by no means conceded, but the responsibility is still that of the states, which are the guardians of all the rights of their citizens. Their average performance is good with the flagrant exception of handling union atrocities against the people.

We know nothing about departmental trials of agents of the FBI. Cops who are accused get loud publicity. And did the FBI use a little too much force in the case of John Edgar Hoover from ambush as he walked on a public street in a crowd leaving a movie?

Canberra (AP)—The first Australian-built Sabre jet fighter has made its official test flight. Flight-Lieutenant W. H. Scott of the RAAF flew the plane for 30 minutes in the Melbourne area. Minister for Defense Production Eric J. Harrison told newsmen the Australian Sabre was an improvement on the original American design. Australian engineers, he said, had modified the fuselage to take the more powerful British-built Avon jet engine in place of the American turbo jet engine in Sabres now in Korea.

Ulster County Women's Republican Club Hears Miss Mary Krone at First Meeting of Season

The first fall meeting of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club was held Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The meeting was in charge of the newly elected officers with Mrs. Leslie Hotelling presiding and Mrs. Benjamin Chipman in charge of the program.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Mary Goode Krone, director of Miscellaneous Tax Bureau. Miss Krone spoke to the group on the proposed amendments to the State Constitution which are to be voted on at the coming election. They are nine in number, and Miss Krone dealt with each one, giving an explanation of the purpose of the amendment then telling what groups of state residents would be most affected by the proposed changes. Those present asked Miss Krone many questions regarding her topic, which she graciously answered.

Miss Krone reminded the club that as voters they have reached the point where their votes can determine the outcome of elections. Therefore, she felt that it would be wise to be informed about what is proposed, in order to vote intelligently.

The next regular meeting of the club will be Tuesday, Sept. 29, at which time Kenneth Wilson, proposed candidate for assemblyman, will be the principal speaker.

Good Taste Today

IN-LAW SITUATION

An unhappy wife tells me: "My husband's father died six months ago and as his mother was alone and unable to keep up the apartment, she came to live with my husband and me. I always got on well with my mother-in-law and never thought her to be a meddlesome person, but since she has come to live here she is trying to run my house and even my children. True, she has had more experience than I have in running a house, but I like to do things my own way. This is making me nervous and I really don't know what to do about it. I'm writing to you in the hope that you may have a tactful solution to my problem."

This is a very unhappy situation not only for you but probably for her and unless your husband is able to provide for her board elsewhere (which would make her independent and perhaps much happier) there is no solution other than for you and her to adjust yourselves to each other, and to do this your husband may be able to help you both.

Friendship or Engagement Gifts?

Dear Mrs. Post: When a friendship almost having reached the engagement stage breaks off between a man and a girl, what happens about their gifts to each other? Some of these were expensive, but all have been used. Should they be returned nevertheless? Someone told me that etiquette demands the return of such presents.

Answer: Had they definitely been engagement presents, they should have been returned; but since they were only friendship presents, you keep them.

Period of Mourning

Dear Mrs. Post: The club to which I belong is giving its annual fall dance in mid-September. My mother died in mid-July. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to go to this dance, or is three months too soon?

Answer: It is much too soon and would be considered very heartless.

Who Applauds?

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for the girl to applaud when the music stops while she is dancing? Or is this just for the man to do?

Answer: Ordinarily just the man applauds, unless she is enthusiastic about the music.

What is included in a trousseau? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-5, "The Bride's Trousseau," includes a list of essential personal clothes and linens. Plans for local participation in the state-wide Knights of Columbus pilgrimage to Auriesville Sunday are now complete. Harold W. O'Connor, chairman of Kingston Council's Catholic Affairs Committee, said pilgrimage activities at the shrine will start with Mass in the Coliseum, a large church with a capacity of 10,000. Mass will be celebrated at 10, 11 and 12 o'clock.

The chartered bus provided by the Council will leave the K of C building, Broadway at Andrew street at 8 a. m. and proceed directly to Auriesville.

The distance from Kingston to Auriesville is approximately 100 miles by way of Catskill, Cairo, Middleburg, Sloansville and Glen. Mr. O'Connor advised those traveling by automobile to judge their departure time accordingly, and recommended the taking of a picnic lunch. Refreshments will be available at the shrine cafeteria.

The Knights of Columbus of New York State are making the pilgrimage an annual affair. There was a large Kingston delegation at the 1952 pilgrimage. It is expected that an equally large number of Knights, their families and friends will make the journey Sunday.

Ulster County Women's Republican Club Hears Miss Mary Krone at First Meeting of Season

The first fall meeting of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club was held Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The meeting was in charge of the newly elected officers with Mrs. Leslie Hotelling presiding and Mrs. Benjamin Chipman in charge of the program.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Mary Goode Krone, director of Miscellaneous Tax Bureau. Miss Krone spoke to the group on the proposed amendments to the State Constitution which are to be voted on at the coming election. They are nine in number, and Miss Krone dealt with each one, giving an explanation of the purpose of the amendment then telling what groups of state residents would be most affected by the proposed changes. Those present asked Miss Krone many questions regarding her topic, which she graciously answered.

Miss Krone reminded the club that as voters they have reached the point where their votes can determine the outcome of elections. Therefore, she felt that it would be wise to be informed about what is proposed, in order to vote intelligently.

The next regular meeting of the club will be Tuesday, Sept. 29, at which time Kenneth Wilson, proposed candidate for assemblyman, will be the principal speaker.

IN-LAW SITUATION

An unhappy wife tells me: "My husband's father died six months ago and as his mother was alone and unable to keep up the apartment, she came to live with my husband and me. I always got on well with my mother-in-law and never thought her to be a meddlesome person, but since she has come to live here she is trying to run my house and even my children. True, she has had more experience than I have in running a house, but I like to do things my own way. This is making me nervous and I really don't know what to do about it. I'm writing to you in the hope that you may have a tactful solution to my problem."

This is a very unhappy situation not only for you but probably for her and unless your husband is able to provide for her board elsewhere (which would make her independent and perhaps much happier) there is no solution other than for you and her to adjust yourselves to each other, and to do this your husband may be able to help you both.

Friendship or Engagement Gifts? Dear Mrs. Post: When a friendship almost having reached the engagement stage breaks off between a man and a girl, what happens about their gifts to each other? Some of these were expensive, but all have been used. Should they be returned nevertheless? Someone told me that etiquette demands the return of such presents.

Answer: Had they definitely been engagement presents, they should have been returned; but since they were only friendship presents, you keep them.

Period of Mourning Dear Mrs. Post: The club to which I belong is giving its annual fall dance in mid-September. My mother died in mid-July. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to go to this dance, or is three months too soon?

Answer: It is much too soon and would be considered very heartless.

Who Applauds? Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for the girl to applaud when the music stops while she is dancing? Or is this just for the man to do?

Answer: Ordinarily just the man applauds, unless she is enthusiastic about the music.

What is included in a trousseau? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-5, "The Bride's Trousseau" includes a list of essential personal clothes and linens. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o the Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

A farmer in Iowa was very interested in seeing a prize bull at the state fair, so he loaded his wife and 13 children into the wagon and set off. Upon arrival, he was informed that admission price to see the champion bull was 50 cents a head.

Indignant, he explained that he had come 100 miles but he was danged if he would pay $7.50 for his family to look at the animal.

The doorkeeper conferred a moment with the fair manager, then came back to the farmer.

Old Timers and City League Series Sunday at Athletic Field

Volker, Martin Starting Hurlers In Annual Game

Sixty Former Stars Expected to Play

The local biennial version of Arica and Old Aches—the Saugerties vs. Kingston Old Timers baseball game—will be staged Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

Proceeds of the game will be turned over to the Kingston Boys Club.

Nearly 60 former players and baseball personalities of pre-War II vintage in the 40-plus age bracket will compete in the annual shenanigans.

Kingston has named James "Babe" Volker as its starting pitcher, with James "Lefty" Martin of Kingston the probable starter for Saugerties.

Following the game the players and friends will repair to the Ten Grand Tavern for the annual reunion.

According to late reports out of Saugerties, Manager Les Brink has lost several stars, including Earl "Gaby" Benjamin and Bill Finger.

The upriver squad, however, is reported in top shape, having undergone a long siege of practice. The locals go into the fray with a couple of brief battling drills under their belt.

Saugerties leads in the series, 2 to 1, but the locals are confident they will even matters Sunday.

Among the local old timers taking part in the battle of the giants of yesteryear is Bud Culleton, of the original Colonials. Culleton, a pitcher in the last three "classics" has exchequed any mound work for this one.

Roosters Named

The local roster features Joe Hoffman and Joe Messinger as catchers, with Dewey Van Buren, Eddie Baker and Tommy Lewis, Foye Kaman and Walt Black as pitchers.

Other members of the squad include Bing Van Etten, Joe Dulin, Hank Cragan, Fritz Bruhn, Jack Dawkins, Stan Colvin, Ren Van Keuren, Charlie Lay, Frank "Boots" Leskie. Another contingent features Eddie Burgevin, Jimmy Merritt, Pres Knight, Manager Charlie Tiano, Bud Culleton, Al Flanagan, Percy Slover, Eddie Burgevin, Gene Rider, Bill Thomas and Randy Windsor.

Honorary guests of the Kingston team will be John J. McCordie, former Kingston All Star pitcher; Joseph "Kid" Moore, John Ashdown, Matt Deegan and Carl "Dutch" Glaser.

Saugerties extended invitations to 30 players and about half that number are expected to show up. Injuries and other factors have cut Manager Brink's squad in half.

Freight Is Ready

The big seige gun, Ted Freigh, fit and ready after several weeks of batting practice, will lead the Saugerties brigade. Invitations were sent to Henry "Hank" Baker, who will be the team captain; Jimmy Martin, Paul Joyce, Jack Riverburg, Bill Finger, Earl Benjamin, Stan Butkins, Court Hanna, Hugo Knauer, Joe Benjamin, Bob Freigh, Walt Simmons, Harry Whitaker and Bill Terwilliger.

Also listed are Walter Carle, Howie Fluhr, Dave Bell, Jack Keenan, John Simonitis, Charlie Francello, Bob Desmond, Willie France, Chief of Police Richter, John Hill, George and Harold Swart and Larry "Monk" McCormick.

The official Saugerties delegation also lists Harry Desmond, coach; Frank Whitaker, umpire; Roy Helmsortel, official scorer and Charlie Gilmore, commentator.

Five umpires will give the game World Series atmosphere. They include William "Pie" Murphy, Bill Scully, George Cragan, Dick Dunlin and Whitaker. Jack Hartman will serve as official scorer and Jack Misasi will be the announcer.

Veep Nixon Cracks 100 But President's Score Still Is Big Secret

Denver, Sept. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower had just defeated Vice President Nixon on the golf course, but Nixon was as happy as a school boy about his score.

"I did manage to break 100 for the 18 holes," said Nixon, who took up the game for the first time only about eight months ago.

The vice president declined to disclose his precise score or that of the President, who is a veteran golfer.

"I am going to tell you only this—the President had a lower score than I did," Nixon said after their round yesterday at Denver's Cherry Hills Country Club.

Nixon is here for a round of conferences with the vacationing President. The vice president will leave the United States Oct. 5 on a 70-day tour of the Far East.

Yesterday's match started out as a contest between Eisenhower and Nixon on the one hand—and on the other—Ed Dudley, the pro at Colorado Springs Broadmoor Club, and L. B. (Bud) Maytag Sr. of the Washington machine Maytags.

But Nixon said match play within the foursome was abandoned early in the round in favor of pitting the party against a foursome behind which included Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado and Ralph (Rip) Arnold, the Cherry Hills pro. The President's foursome won, Nixon reported.

Maines and Barnes Pound Home Runs

The championship Subway Grill and Alpine Climbers battled to a six-inning, 6-6, tie in the first game of the softball Shaughnessy playoffs.

Both teams staged four-run rallies, the Subways in the first and Alpines in the second inning. The Climbers led 6-4 before Subways rallied with single markers in the fourth and fifth inning.

Darkness halted the contest after six innings.

Walt Bigler held Alpines to five hits, including a triple by George McCordie. Tommy Maines and Sonny Barnes each had a homer and single among the seven Subway safeties off Don Koepfen.

Three Ferraro Classic League trundlers flirted with the "600" circle in the league's first outing of the season last night and two of them missed out only by two sticks.

Maroon Seeks New Backfield

Only Billings Returns From 1952

Coach Bill Burke and his high school football assistants are on the prowl for strong young men who can carry the mail in this year's campaign.

Only Bob Kozlowski of last year's starting line was absent when nearly 100 candidates reported for the Maroon's first workout this week.

But the backfield situation—plagued by graduation, ineptibility and other factors—is grim indeed. The 1953 opener with Highland is only 13 days away and there'll have to be a lot of changes made to be a lot of changes made by then.

Roger Billings, a sound quarterback and scrapper, is the only returnee in the backfield. Orville Giles is ineptible. Pat Manfro is gone and the unpredictable Gene Massa is attending classes but has not yet appeared for a workout.

Massa's status remains in doubt and he appears to have played his last game for Kingston High.

Solid Line Returns

The line stalwarts returning include Fred Jackson, Bill Evle, Richard Kuntz, Harry LeFevre, Ray Gallo and Munson.

Some backfield help is expected from last year's Jayvee squad but Burke hinted the Maroon might have to tap some of the 1952 freshmen team.

Crosby, a good backfield prospect, missed several workouts this week because of illness.

Three of last year's Jayvee stars figure largely in Burke's plans, with Charlie Johnson, the basketball player and track ace, shaping up as a solid choice for a starting post in the backfield. Kenny Osterhoudt and Steve Palen also are in condition for Billings' supporting cast.

Burke is hopeful of moulding a representative backfield quartet for the Highland opener. The outlook is not overwhelming at the moment but it's always a nice feeling to know you have a veteran line operating for you.

Milwaukee Is Holding Out to Bitter Finish

Which Is Expected To Happen Today

By BEN PHLEGAR

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The handwriting is on the wall but all of a sudden the Milwaukee Braves can't read.

The stubborn Braves still seem to be operating on the theory that the National League pennant race is a two-team affair. And they're ready to smack down any one who says it isn't.

Brooklyn's dashing Dodgers descended upon the brewing center yesterday primed to wrap up their second straight flag. They needed just one more victory. The celebration was arranged and the brass flew in from Brooklyn headquarters for the whining-ding.

Out at Milwaukee's County Stadium last night one Andy Pafko made the Dodgers realize that $50,000 was only money. He hit a home run with a man on base in the sixth inning and he won the game for the Braves with a 10th inning homer after two were out. The score was 9-8.

With 13 games to play the Braves now trail the Dodgers by 12. They meet for the final time today.

Pafko was sold by Brooklyn to the Braves for $50,000 during the winter and the Dodger officials went to great pains to advise the fans that Pafko was no longer necessary. Since his departure Brooklyn has used almost everybody on the roster in left field.

In Everybody's

Norman Niles missed the coveted "600" bracket by a single stick in the Everybody's League last night, stacking 599 on solos of 182, 224 and 193 at the Central Recs.

Niles' pining enabled the Amell squad to rack up both team highs of 898 and 2612.

Jack Houghtaling, rival anchor on the J&A Roofing squad, was runner-up with 566. Art Parks had a pair of 202s and 548 and Steve Wyden socked 534. Ken Newell shot 513.

Elsewhere in the league, Fred Schryver posted a 203-557, Orville Giles had 528, J. McDermott 538, M. Kahrs 511, Ray Houghtaling 498, H. Rice 497, Allen Hoey 489.

Big Jim Ferraro To Oppose Donato At the Stadium

Jewels Need Two Wins to Cinch Flag

The final baseball attraction of the 1953 season at municipal stadium unfolds tonight between the Kingston Colonials and Newburgh Jewels in the Hudson valley championship series.

Promoter Fred Davi has tentatively scheduled Maury McDermott Jr. and the Major League All Stars on Sunday, Oct. 18, but has not made a definite commitment.

Out of the running in the round robin tournament, the Colonials are expected to rely on local talent for the pitching chore. This means either Big Jim Ferraro or Gerry Bechtold.

Manager Bill Ryan several days ago announced southpaw Carmen Donato as his choice. Charlie Benefield is due to go against Poughkeepsie in the window game Sunday afternoon at Newburgh.

Now occupying the cat bird seat, the Jewels are favored to win both contests and cinch the first leg on the Sen. Desmond trophy.

No Rhubarb Likely

The Colonials would like nothing better than upsetting the Jewels' carefully nurtured designs on the 1953 Hudson valley title. They have dropped three in a row to the Hill City sluggers but the three clonbers would be forgotten if an upset occurs tonight.

The designation of Ferraro or Bechtold as the Colonial pitcher eliminated any possibility of stirring the rhubarb created a couple games back.

"We won't have either Al Blake or Fred Vogel with us tonight," said Manager Tony Williams. "That should make Bill Ryan breathe easier. As a matter of fact, Vogel pitched the Hartford All Stars against the St. Louis Browns in an exhibition game Thursday night at Hartford."

That should give Ryan and the Jewels an idea of what they are missing.

McCarthy to Hold Hearings to Show Why He Hit Army

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he plans public hearings designed to show whether he was justified in releasing an intelligence report which the army has labeled a "restricted" document.

The senator told newsmen the hearing will be held before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, which he heads, but he did not say when.

McCarthy contends he made the report public Wednesday because it contained "clearcut Communist propaganda." But the army said in a statement yesterday that McCarthy had withheld sections of the report which made it obvious the document was not Communist propaganda.

Besides, the army said, releasing any of the report disclosed information affecting national defense "within the meaning of the espionage laws."

Didn't Mention Him

The army statement did not mention McCarthy by name or any plans to try to prosecute him—an action that seemed unlikely in these circumstances. But it said of the document:

"The transmission or revelation of its contents in any manner to any unauthorized person is prohibited by law."

Unauthorized disclosure of material bearing such classifications as "restricted," "secret" and so on is punishable by up to 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The criticized report was declassified yesterday by the army because of its prior disclosure.

No Choice, He Says

"I have no choice but to go ahead and expose it publicly," McCarthy said in telling reporters he expects to hold public hearings on the issue before his subcommittee.

The subcommittee received testimony yesterday from a former top Communist, now working for the Justice Department, who said he doubts the United Nations is being used by U. S. Communists for espionage, but that they do use it to help keep track of planning activities behind the Iron Curtain.

The witness, John Lautner, rejected a suggestion advanced by McCarthy that the Reds use the UN as an espionage base.

Finals Set Tonight In Beauty Contest

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—The Miss America hopefuls went into the last day of the week-long contest today, as nervous as 52 bridesmaids waiting for someone to throw them a bouquet.

With the preliminaries over the girls will wait out the day until the final judging tonight, when ten finalists will be named and the elimination progresses until the winner of the $50,000 title is chosen.

Six of the contestants have a big jump on the field—their victories in talent and bathing suit preliminaries in the past three nights.

Last night 21-year-old Miss Delaware, Lois Ann Alava of Wilmington won in the talent division by playing the cadenza from Greig's Piano Concerto in A Minor.

Miss California, Patricia Ann Johns, an 18-year-old beauty from Fresno, wore a white bathing suit (one-piece) well enough to win in that division last night. The other bathing suit winners are earlier nights were Miss Wyoming (Elaine Lois Holkenbry of Torrington) and Miss Pennsylvania (Evelyn Margaret Ay of Ephrata).

Talent Winners

The other two girls with first in talent are Miss Virginia (Anne Lee Ceglis of Norfolk) and Miss South Dakota (Delores Jerde of Spearfish).

But the girls also are judged on how well they look in an evening gown and on their personalities. Results of these preliminaries are not announced and add a large amount of uncertainty to any forecasts.

None of the girls won more than one preliminary and any one of the 52 entrants has a chance to be among the 10 finalists chosen tonight. The number will be whittled to five and then Miss America of 1954 will be named to reign for a year.

Miss California, last night's bathing suit winner, has long hidden-brown hair and is 18, the youngest of the winners in the preliminaries. She is five feet five inches tall, 120 pounds and has a 36-inch bust, 26-inch waist and 34-inch hips.

Miss Delaware, slender raven-haired pianist, is five feet 4½ inches tall, weighs 115 pounds, has a 33½-inch bust, 23-inch waist and 33½-inch hips.

Researchers Talk Over Solar Energy

BY FRANK CAREY
(AP Science Reporter)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 12 (AP)—Thirty-five of the world's top researchers on solar energy convened here today to "dream up" new approaches toward harnessing the sun for home and industrial heat and power.

The "sun men"—and one "sun woman"—will attempt to outline areas of further research best designed to allow future generations to tap the sun for such energy when "limited" sources of coal, gas and oil are exhausted. Up to now "nothing of substantial promise" in that field has been turned up, one of the conference officials said.

The conference announcement said nothing about future prospects for getting power from atomic fuels, but Dr. Farrington Daniels of the University of Wisconsin, who is chairman of the Conference Committee, declared in a speech earlier this week that research on utilization of solar energy is needed because "the sun will still be going strong when all our chemical and nuclear fuels are exhausted."

The conference sessions will be closed to the press, but a news conference has been scheduled for Sunday, and a summary may be issued at the close of the whole meeting on Monday.

Concerning the "privacy" of the meeting, Dr. Daniels told a reporter that the meeting was arranged so as to let some of the world's foremost authorities on non-agricultural aspects of solar energy "live, talk and eat together for a few days—and dream and stick their necks out a thousand years."

He said they'd "close up like clams" if reporters were present at a meeting designed to encourage speculation but that "scientists, when among themselves, are willing to make rash speculations" for the purpose of clarifying a line of attack.

"There isn't any solar prosperity just around the corner," Daniels said in an interview just before the meeting. "Nothing of substantial promise on the utilization of solar energy for heat or power has yet turned up."

The aged man said he started for his daughters and apparently became confused. He was unable to recall having remained outdoors during Thursday evening and said he had been away only a few hours.

Attorney Says Aly Can't See Rejection

Paris, Sept. 12 (AP)—Aly Khan's Paris attorney said today he is mystified by Rita Hayworth's statement that she is rejecting a proposed settlement because it provides her daughter, Yasmin, be exposed to Moslem teachings.

"That never has been an issue in this affair previously," declared Charles Torem, who represents Miss Hayworth's former husband. Aly himself said, "My lawyer really knows more about this than I do. You will have to refer to him."

Torem said he could not discuss the actual financial terms of the proposed settlement, but "the figure of a million dollars is quite inaccurate."

Only Rita Can Answer

What possibility of solution is there now that the issue apparently no longer is, a question of money?

"Only Miss Hayworth can answer that," Torem replied. "I can't figure it out."

Torem confirmed that it is likely that he will make a trip to the United States to see Miss Hayworth since she has rejected the proposed settlement.

Aly declined to say whether he would consider altering the conditions of Yasmin's education and annual visits to Europe. Torem said he doubted that Aly would do so.

After all, they're quite normal conditions," he commented.

Witness at . . .

effort to establish a Communist cell in Catholic organizations." Jenner cited testimony given here in June by two witnesses described as "active participants" in such an attempt. Senate sources indicated the try at Catholic subversion was made some 10 or 15 years ago and failed.

The two witnesses before Jenner's group were named as Harold King and Thomas Davin, both of New York city. King was listed as a high school teacher and Davin said he resigned as a magazine editor because "I considered that it gave scandal for me to be called before this committee."

Both men, asked whether they tried to penetrate Catholic groups in a Communist conspiracy, refused to answer on grounds the Constitution guaranteed their right to avoid giving possibly self-incriminating testimony.

However, King testified he had been a member of the Catholic Committee for Human Rights, an organization now defunct.

Not Connected

In testimony before the House group, Kornfelder named Harry F. Ward, former professor at Union Theological Seminary, New York, as leader of a plan to communize clergymen through the Methodist Federation for Social Service. This is an unofficial organization not connected with the Methodist Church.

New York last night, Ward denied the testimony about him as "completely false."

Gitlow also named Ward as a minister who "carried out the instructions of the Communist Party or collaborated with it."

But Gitlow said "the key figure" for the Communists in the religious field was "Robert W. Dunn, head of the Labor Research Association." He referred to Dunn as having been "connected with the Quakers' Relief Organization and with the Young Men's Christian Association."

Others Involved

Others involved "in the Communist conspiracy to subject the Methodist Church for Communist purposes," Gitlow testified, included the Rev. Jack R. McMichael, the Rev. Charles C. Webber, the Rev. Alton J. Smith, Dr. Willard Uphaus, Margaret Forsyth, the Rev. Lee H. Ball, and Prof. Walter Rautenstrauch. Still others named in the committee's report included Dr. William B. Spofford, Sr., the Rev. Irwin St. John Tucker, the Rev. Claude Williams, the late Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and the Rev. John Haymes Holmes.

Many of the clergymen named could not be reached for comment.

However, Dr. Spofford was reached at Tunkhannock, Pa., and said: "I am trying to carry on the Christian religion and I am not a member nor have I ever been a member of any political party."

The 61-year-old clergyman, editor of the Episcopal National Weekly "The Witness" for 30 years, said of the list: "That's a fine group of men and I'm glad to be included in their number."

Says Testimony False

Ward also said he belonged to no political party and added: "All testimony charging me with Communist party membership or activities under its direction is completely false."

In Conway, N. H., Dr. Uphaus said of Gitlow's reference to him: "It's silly, unfounded; it isn't true."

Dr. Uphaus said the other clergymen mentioned are all "genuine Christians."

The Rev. Mr. Ball, at his home, in Irvington, N. Y., said:

"I am not a member of the Communist party nor do I consider that I follow what is called the Communist line."

"It is ridiculous to assert that there is a Communist conspiracy to subvert the Methodist Church."

"I am a Christian minister who tried to preach and apply the principles of Jesus. Among these principles are those of peace and civil rights."

The Rev. Mr. Trucker said in Chicago he has voted Republican for more than 20 years and has been a bitter enemy of communism for 30 years. The Rev. Mr. Williams said in Helena, Ala., he is a Democrat and has worked for civil rights and is "not even a member of the Progressive party."

McMichael has denied to the committee that he ever was a Communist.

Speeders Forfeit Bail, Other City Court Cases

Two men arrested Wednesday charged with speeding on Foxhall avenue near Broadway forfeited bail of $15 each when they failed to appear in city court this morning.

Paul Jones, 41, of 19 Ann street, and James Jamieson, 29, of 253 East Union street, were arrested at 8 p. m. Wednesday by Officers Meyer Levy and Kenneth Gaffney.

The case of J. Douglas Rattray, 42, of Port Ewen, who was arrested at 2:47 a. m. today on Broadway near Brewster street by Officers John W. Frasca and Harold Bowers charged with reckless driving, was put over by Judge Mino until September 19. Attorney Sherwood Davis appeared for Rattray.

Stresses Parent's Role in Reducing Children Mishaps

The important role of parents stressing common sense in the matter of safety habits was listed today as a major step in combating serious accidents by Sheriff Cluett Schantz.

Commenting on the September Child Safety Program sponsored by the Police Bureau of the New York State Division of Safety, Sheriff Schantz said "if parents display careless safety habits, their examples may endanger the lives of their children."

Continuing he said, "last year the number of traffic injuries and deaths involving children was over 200,000. Many pedestrian accidents occur when people jaywalk; that is, cross streets in the middle of the block. Show your children how to cross at intersections, obey traffic lights and avoid other dangerous walking habits. Chances are that your children will follow your example; so make it a good one. A little concern now may save a lot of remorse later."

Cautions Drivers

Sheriff Schantz said that motorists, too, have a responsibility of driving slowly whenever there might be children playing. Now that school has started, children will be crossing streets on their way to school in the morning, at lunchtime, and going home after school. As often as parents may see the children "don't run into the street" when a child becomes engrossed in his play he may forget and dart into the street.

"More children die from accidents than any disease," concluded Sheriff Schantz.

Cautions Republicans

Mineral Wells, Tex., Sept. 12 (AP)—Texas Democrats are ready for another war with the national party but they'll take peace if the terms are right. That was the essence of Gov. Allan Shivers' speech that touched off cheers and laughter from a friendly State Democratic Executive Committee meeting here yesterday. He also reminded the Republicans that winning one election had not made Texas a two party state.

McCarthy to Hold Hearings to Show Why He Hit Army

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he plans public hearings designed to show whether he was justified in releasing an intelligence report which the army has labeled a "restricted" document.

The senator told newsmen the hearing will be held before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, which he heads, but he did not say when.

McCarthy contends he made the report public Wednesday because it contained "clearcut Communist propaganda." But the army said in a statement yesterday that McCarthy had withheld sections of the report which made it obvious the document was not Communist propaganda.

Besides, the army said, releasing any of the report disclosed information affecting national defense "within the meaning of the espionage laws."

Didn't Mention Him

The army statement did not mention McCarthy by name or any plans to try to prosecute him—an action that seemed unlikely in these circumstances. But it said of the document:

"The transmission or revelation of its contents in any manner to any unauthorized person is prohibited by law."

Unauthorized disclosure of material bearing such classifications as "restricted," "secret" and so on is punishable by up to 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The criticized report was declassified yesterday by the army because of its prior disclosure.

No Choice, He Says

"I have no choice but to go ahead and expose it publicly," McCarthy said in telling reporters he expects to hold public hearings on the issue before his subcommittee.

The subcommittee received testimony yesterday from a former top Communist, now working for the Justice Department, who said he doubts the United Nations is being used by U. S. Communists for espionage, but that they do use it to help keep track of planning and activities behind the Iron Curtain.

The witness, John Lautner, released a suggestion advanced by McCarthy that the Reds use the UN as an espionage base.

Finals Set Tonight In Beauty Contest

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—The Miss America hopefuls went into the last day of the week-long contest today, as nervous as 52 bridesmaids waiting for someone to throw them a bouquet.

With the preliminaries over the girls will wait out the day until the final judging tonight, when ten finalists will be named and the elimination progresses until the winner of the $50,000 title is chosen.

Six of the contestants have a big jump on the field—their victories in talent and bathing suit preliminaries in the past three nights.

Last night 21-year-old Miss Delaware, Lois Ann Alava of Wilmington won in the talent division by playing the cadenza from Grieg's Piano Concerto in A Minor.

Miss California, Patricia Ann Johns, an 18-year-old beauty from Fresno, wore a white bathing suit (one-piece as required by contest rules) well enough to win in that division last night.

The other bathing suit winners in earlier nights were Miss Wyoming (Elaine Lois Holkenbrink of Torrington) and Miss Pennsylvania (Evelyn Margaret Ay of Ephrata).

Talent Winners

The other two girls with first in talent are Miss Virginia (Anne Lee Ceglis of Norfolk) and Miss South Dakota (Delores Jerde of Spearfish).

But the girls also are judged on how well they look in an evening gown and on their personalities. Results of the preliminaries are not announced and add a large amount of uncertainty to any forecasts.

None of the girls won more than one preliminary and any one of the 52 entrants has a chance to be among the 10 finalists chosen tonight. The number will be whittled to five and then Miss America of 1954 will be named to reign for a year.

Miss California, last night's bathing suit winner, has long golden-brown hair and at 18 is the youngest of the winners in the preliminaries. She is five feet five inches tall, 120 pounds and has a 36-inch bust, 26-inch waist and 34-inch hips.

Miss Delaware, slender raven-haired pianist, is five feet 4½ inches tall, weighs 115 pounds, has a 33½-inch bust, 23-inch waist and 33½-inch hips.

Researchers Talk Over Solar Energy

BY FRANK CAREY
(AP Science Reporter)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 12 (AP)—Thirty-five of the world's top researchers on solar energy convened here today to "dream up" new approaches toward harnessing the sun for home and industrial heat and power.

The "sun men"—and one "sun woman"—will attempt to outline areas of further research best designed to allow future generations to tap the sun for such energy when "limited" sources of coal, gas and oil are exhausted. Up to now "nothing of substantial promise" in that field has been turned up, one of the conference officials said.

The conference announcement said nothing about future prospects for getting power from atomic fuels, but Dr. Farrington Daniels of the University of Wisconsin, who is chairman of the Conference Committee, declared in a speech earlier this week that research on utilization of solar energy is needed because "the sun will still be going strong when all our chemical and nuclear fuels are exhausted."

The conference sessions will be closed to the press, but a news conference has been scheduled for Sunday, and a summary may be issued at the close of the whole meeting on Monday.

Concerning the "privacy" of the meeting, Dr. Daniels told a reporter that the meeting was arranged so as to let some of the world's foremost authorities on non-agricultural aspects of solar energy "live, talk and eat together for a few days—and dream and stick their necks out a thousand years."

He said they'd "close up like clams" if reporters were present at a meeting designed to encourage speculation but that "scientists, when among themselves, are willing to make rash speculations for the purpose of clarifying a line of attack."

"There isn't any solar prosperity just around the corner," Daniels said in an interview just before the meeting. "Nothing of substantial promise in the utilization of solar energy for heat or power has yet turned up."

Cafaldo was found wandering in the swamp near the Saugerties lighthouse Friday at 1:45 p. m. by Albert Bruno, Charles and Peter Cafaldo, grandsons who were searching along with police and volunteers. The aged man said he started for his daughter's home and apparently became confused.

Attorney Says Aly Can't See Rejection

Paris, Sept. 12 (AP)—Aly Khan's Paris attorney said today he is mystified by Rita Hayworth's statement that she is rejecting a proposed settlement because it provides her daughter, Yasmine, be exposed to Moslem teachings.

"That never has been an issue in this affair previously," declared Charles Torem, who represents Miss Hayworth's former husband. Aly himself said, "My lawyer really knows more about this than I do. You will have to refer to him."

Torem said he could not discuss the actual financial terms of the proposed settlement, but "the figure of a million dollars is quite inaccurate."

Only Rita Can Answer
What possibility of solution is there now that the issue apparently no longer is, a question of money?

"Only Miss Hayworth can answer that," Torem replied. "I can't figure it out."

Torem confirmed that it is likely that he will make a trip to the United States to see Miss Hayworth since she has rejected the proposed settlement.

Aly declined to say whether he would consider altering the conditions of Yasmine's education and annual visits to Europe. Torem said he doubted that Aly would do so.

"After all, they're quite normal conditions," he commented.

Witness at . . .

effort to establish a Communist cell in Catholic organizations." Jenner cited testimony given here in June by two witnesses described as "active participants" in such an attempt. Senate sources indicated the try at Catholic subversion was made some 10 or 15 years ago and failed.

The two witnesses before Jenner's group were named as Harold King and Thomas Davin, both of New York city. King was listed as a high school teacher and Davin said he resigned as a magazine editor because "I considered that it gave scandal for me to be called before this committee."

Both men, asked whether they tried to penetrate Catholic groups in a Communist conspiracy, refused to answer on grounds the Constitution guaranteed their right to avoid giving possibly self-incriminating testimony.

However, King testified he had been a member of the Catholic Committee for Human Rights, an organization now defunct.

Not Connected

In testimony before the House group, Komfeder named Harry E. Ward, former professor at Union Theological Seminary, New York, as leader of a plan to communize clergymen through the Methodist Federation for Social Service. This is an unofficial organization not connected with the Methodist Church.

In New York last night, Ward denied the testimony about him as "completely false."

Gitlow also named Ward as a minister who "carried out the instructions of the Communist Party or collaborated with it."

But Gitlow said "the key figure" for the Communists in the religious field was "Robert W. Dunn, head of the Labor Research Association." He referred to Dunn as having been "connected with the Quakers' Relief Organization and with the Young Men's Christian Association."

Others Involved

Others involved "in the Communist conspiracy to subject the Methodist Church for Communist purposes," Gitlow testified, included the Rev. Jack R. McMichael, the Rev. Charles C. Weber, the Rev. Alton J. Smith, Dr. Willard Uphaus, Margaret Forsyth, the Rev. Lee H. Ball, and Prof. Walter Rautenstrauch.

Still others named in the committee's report included Dr. William B. Spofford, Sr., the Rev. Irwin St. John Tucker, the Rev. Claude Williams, the late Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and the Rev. John Haymes Holmes.

Many of the clergymen named could not be reached for comment.

However, Dr. Spofford was reached at Tunkhannock, Pa., and said: "I am trying to carry on the Christian religion and I am not a member nor have I ever been a member of any political party."

The 61-year-old clergyman, editor of the Episcopal National Weekly "The Witness" for 30 years, said of the list: "That's a fine group of men and I'm glad to be included in their number."

Says Testimony False

Ward also said he belonged to no political party and added: "All testimony charging me with Communist party membership or activities under its direction is completely false."

In Conway, N. H., Dr. Uphaus said of Gitlow's reference to him: "It's silly, unfounded; it isn't true."

Dr. Uphaus said the other clergymen mentioned are all "genuine Christians."

The Rev. Mr. Ball, at his home, in Irvington, N. Y., said: "I am not a member of the Communist party nor do I consider that I follow what is called the Communist line."

"It is ridiculous to assert that there is a Communist conspiracy to subvert the Methodist Church," he said.

"I am a Christian minister who tried to preach and apply the principles of Jesus. Among these principles are those of peace and civil rights."

The Rev. Mr. Trucker said in Chicago he has voted Republican for more than 20 years and has been a bitter enemy of communism for 30 years. The Rev. Mr. Williams said in Helena, Ala., he is a Democrat and has worked for civil rights and is "not even a member of the Progressive party."

McMichael has denied to the committee that he ever was a Communist.

Stresses Parent's Role in Reducing Children Mishaps

The important role of parents in reducing common sense in the matter of safety habits was listed today as a major step in combating serious accidents by Sheriff Cluett Schantz.

Commenting on the September Child Safety Program sponsored by the Police Bureau of the New York State Division of Safety, Sheriff Schantz said "if parents display careless safety habits, their examples may endanger the lives of their children."

Continuing he said, "last year the number of traffic injuries and deaths involving children was over 200,000. Many pedestrian accidents occur when people jaywalk; that is, cross streets in the middle of the block. Show your children how to cross at intersections, obey traffic lights and avoid other dangerous walking habits. Chances are that your children will follow your example; so make it a good one. A little concern now may save a lot of remorse later."

Cautions Drivers
Sheriff Schantz said that motorists, too, have a responsibility of driving slowly whenever there might be children playing. Now that school has started children will be crossing streets on their way to school in the morning, at lunchtime, and going home after school. As often as parents may tell their children "don't run into the street" when a child becomes engrossed in his play he may forget and dart into the street.

"More children die from accidents than any other disease," concluded Sheriff Schantz.

Cautions Republicans
Mineral Wells, Tex., Sept. 12 (AP)—Texas Democrats are ready for another war with the national party but they'll take peace if the terms are right. That was the essence of Gov. Allan Shivers' speech that touched off cheers and laughter from a friendly State Democratic Executive Committee meeting here yesterday. He also reminded the Republicans that winning one election had not made Texas a two party state.
